

OPEN HEARINGS ON TARIFF DEFEATED

Democrats Carry Out Program Despite Opposite Vote 41 to 36

ATTACK WILSON'S ATTITUDE

Republicans Declare Majority Will Be Put Out of Power for Next 25 Years

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Democratic leaders in the senate were indignant today in their determination to refer the Underwood tariff bill to the finance committee for consideration without public hearings. The Penrose-La Follette amendment, directing that public hearings be held, was defeated by a vote of 41 to 36, and the motion of Senator Simmons to refer the bill then was passed without a roll call.

James Defends Wilson.

The closing day of debate on the issue of hearings was enlivened with discussion of the Democratic platform and its bearing on free sugar by Senator James of Kentucky, who vigorously defended the stand taken by President Wilson for free sugar. He declared that the party had stood for free sugar and campaigned on it, and defied the Louisiana senators to find a man to whom President Wilson had ever told he was opposed to free sugar.

Clarke Chides Democrats.

"The edict has gone forth," said Senator Clarke. "The real vote on this tariff will be taken here, as in the house, where it was taken in secret caucus. I know there are Democrats here who do not believe the bill is just and righteous altogether, who are willing to bow their heads to office and to ease the lash of party expediency."

Senators Waive of Montana said he was in receipt of scores of telegrams urging him to vote for hearings. Most of them came from sugar interests, he said, but he believed not a single fact could be elucidated in hearings that

CRAZED WITH DRINK, MAN RUNS AMUCK ON A PASSENGER TRAIN

Slashes at Other Occupants With a Knife and Is Captured After a Hard Struggle

A drunken man, Roland Deshon—suddenly became crazed on a southbound Denver and Rio Grande passenger train two miles north of this city, shortly after 8 o'clock last night, and started down the aisle of the car, slashing right and left with a white penknife.

He slit open a leg of the trousers of the first man he came to, from the hip to the knee, and slashed the knife twice across the face of Robert McKenzie, the second man he met. But McKenzie, shorter than Deshon, and stocky, fought back, striking him in the face with his fists, and then hurling him to the floor and stamping on his face with his feet. Other passengers in the car pulled them apart, but Deshon's life was saved only because McKenzie had taken off his shoes some time before. Both men were taken off the train when it reached this city, and Deshon is confined to the city jail with a badly bruised face and body, while McKenzie is at St. Francis hospital with a long, deep cut in the left side of his face.

Deshon is apparently 35 or 40 years old, while McKenzie is younger, not much more than 25 years old. Deshon's home is not known. McKenzie formerly lived in Lafayette, Colo., and more recently in Frederick, Colo., a new town where his family conducts a hotel and livery. Both men were members of a large party which the railroad was sending to Tucker, Utah, for construction work. They were on Denver & Rio Grande passenger train No. 3, which was due in this city at 8:25 o'clock.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR CAMPAIGNS

PREPARE TO PERPETUATE SUPREMACY

Will Carry on Extensive Publicity Campaign Headquarters in Washington

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The campaign for Democratic supremacy at the polls in 1914 and 1916 was opened here today, when the executive campaign committee of the Democratic national committee organized and discussed preliminary plans. The committee agreed upon permanent headquarters in Washington, the organization of an educational campaign, harmonious cooperation with the Democratic congressional committee, and with a continuous militant party organization from now until after the next presidential election, at least.

Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, caucus chairman of the house, and recognized as the president's spokesman in that body, was made chairman, and Rollo Wells of St. Louis, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, treasurer.

At the permanent headquarters, Thomas J. Pence of North Carolina, the former correspondent who conducted the Wilson press campaign, will be in charge of publicity. With him already is Col. John L. Martin of Missouri, sergeant-at-arms of the last and other national conventions of the Democracy.

Extensive Publicity Campaign.

Plans agreed upon today, contemplate the sending of Democratic letters from Washington to the approximately 10,000 weekly newspapers and 2,000 daily papers that have no special correspondents at the national capital. All this will require a large fund, and the committee decided to appeal to the various states for contributions.

Hold Conferences Today.

At tomorrow's meeting, the committee will confer with Representative Lloyd of Missouri, chairman, and Representative Page of North Carolina, secretary, the retiring officers of the Democratic congressional committee, who were elected at a recent meeting to consult with the national committee, the president and Democratic senators regarding the president's proposal that the numerical strength of senators on the congressional committee be increased so as to secure the most effective cooperation in the congressional campaign.

It is probable that the congressional committee will be asked to name three representatives and two senators to serve on a joint executive campaign committee for conducting the political battles in the next four years. The party leaders contemplate sending out speakers under the auspices of this joint committee to outline the attitude of the administration whenever an occasion offers.

Passengers separated the man, and they were both taken to the city jail when the train reached Colorado Springs. There Deshon, who was not seriously hurt, was put into confinement, and McKenzie was attended by County Physician J. H. Brown. Brown cleansed the wound in the side of McKenzie's head, took two stitches in it, and bound it up tightly. He was unable to stop the bleeding, however, as an artery had been severed, and sent McKenzie to St. Francis hospital to have the artery tied up. This was accomplished, and the bleeding was stopped. Later in the night McKenzie was reported from the hospital as resting well. Just what action will be taken

BISHOP DOANE OF ALBANY, N. Y., DIES

One of Most Prominent Divines in the Eastern Church

NEW YORK, May 17.—(Saturday)—Bishop Crosswell Doane of Albany, in charge of the Albany diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, died at the Hotel Manhattan in this city shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. He was 81 years old.

Bishop Doane came here from Albany on Tuesday, accompanied by several of his nearest relatives. He was apparently in his usual health as he entered the hotel, but showed the effects of his age. He became ill Wednesday, and Dr. E. S. Hard, his family physician, was called, and remained in attendance.

Thursday night he was forced to take to his bed by an attack of heart trouble. By noon Friday he began to fail. The decline was gradual until death.

Bishop Doane came here to attend the quarterly meeting of the board of missions of the Episcopal church. He was present at the Wednesday and Thursday sessions.

Was Friend of Morgan. ALBANY, N. Y., May 16.—A man of high standing in the Episcopal church was Bishop Doane—sometimes referred to as "William of Albany"—and among other dignitaries of the church his name was revered. He was an intimate friend of the late J. P. Morgan, and each meeting between these two men was marked by some show of affection.

Among Bishop Doane's many achievements, the establishment of All Saints cathedral stands out as the most prominent. In various cities in the diocese are lasting monuments, most of them in the form of homes for boys and girls, notably the Childs hospital here, where children of all creeds and races are treated, and St. Margaret's home for the care of foundling babies, connected with the hospital.

On many of the mooted questions of the day Bishop Doane was not afraid to express strenuous views. He was a consistent enemy of divorce. Woman suffrage, he always consistently opposed. He also advocated temperance reforms.

William Crosswell Doane was born in Boston, March 2, 1832, the son of George Washington Doane, descendant of Deacon John Doane, who came from England to Plymouth on one of three ships which brought the first settlers to Cape Cod between 1620 and 1632.

William Fink has been secured to get together a band or orchestra of 17 pieces, and this is assurance that the grade of music played at the concerts will be such as to warrant good attendance. It has not been decided whether a band or orchestra will be secured.

CHURCHES JOIN IN UNION SERVICE

First Time in the History of Presbyterianism That Such Occurs

FIRST STEP TOWARD MERGER

Name of Secretary Bryan Causes Lively Protest at Conference

ATLANTA, Ga., May 16.—For the first time in the history of Presbyterianism, the four grand divisions of the church, the Northern, the Southern, the United and the Associate, Reformed, joined late this afternoon in a union communion service. Participating were more than 3,000 communicants, including delegates and commissioners to the Jan-Presbyterian conference and laymen from every section of the United States.

Presiding over the communion service, which was impressive in its simplicity, were Dr. J. S. Lyons, Dr. R. M. Russell and Dr. J. T. Stone, respectively moderators of the Southern, United and Northern assemblies. In an address, Dr. Russell laid special emphasis upon the significance attached to the union communion service as the forerunner of ultimate union of the whole church. A prayer by Dr. Lyons and pronouncement of the benediction by Dr. Stone closed the service.

Score Divorce Evil.

An interesting feature of the day was the adoption by the Northern assembly of a resolution presented by the committee on Christian life and work, hearing directly upon the "divorce evil" and making recommendations for enactment of uniform legislation on marriage and divorce. Recommendations to the effect that the dissonant be made a conspicuous agency of the church, and that the assembly endorse interchurch federations, also were adopted.

A spirited discussion was precipitated in the Southern assembly session today when the report of a special committee containing a "brief, popular statement of the belief of the Presbyterian church in the United States," and containing an important reference to the "elect infant clause," was submitted. Action upon the report was deferred until Tuesday. Two members of the committee submitted a minority report directly at variance with that of the majority. One says:

Minority Report.

"All who die in infancy and all others who are incapable of exercising choice are regenerated and saved by Christ through the spirit who works when and where and how he pleases."

Overtures favoring organic union were read and referred to a special committee to consist of one member from each synod.

At the morning session of the United assembly, a lively protest followed the proposal to include in a telegram to President Wilson, commending him for his stand on moral questions, the name of Secretary of State Bryan. It was decided to send the message to the president only.

Arrangements have been made by the Presbyterians of Atlanta to tender a mammoth reception to the commissioners of the three general Presbyterian assemblies tomorrow at Agnes Scott college.

In the United assembly it was decided to increase the percentage of

NORTH PARK CONCERTS DEFINITELY DETERMINED

Beginning the first or second Sunday in June, Colorado Springs people will be given the opportunity of attending free orchestra and band concerts at North Park each Sunday afternoon throughout June, July, August, and September until the middle of September. A number of north end business men have been working on this plan for some time and completed the final arrangements this week.

William Fink has been secured to get together a band or orchestra of 17 pieces, and this is assurance that the grade of music played at the concerts will be such as to warrant good attendance. It has not been decided whether a band or orchestra will be secured.

INDIANA AUTO MEN COME HERE JULY 10

Visit on Tour to Coast Indicates Springs Will Be on Ocean-to-Ocean Road

A telegram was received yesterday by the roads and highways committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which Leonard E. Curtis is chairman, from J. K. Rouse, vice president of the Lincoln Highway association at Burlington, Colo., to the effect that the Indiana Automobile Manufacturers association, transcontinental tour will cover the Golden Belt route and Lincoln highway into Colorado Springs. The tour will be from Indianapolis to St. Louis and from there to Kansas City and Colorado Springs. Colorado will be reached July 8, and the night will be spent at Burlington. Lunch will be taken at Limon the next day, and the night stop will be in Colorado Springs. No definite advice has been received as to the route to be taken out of this city west.

One of the special features of the stop made in Colorado Springs will be the trip over the Crystal park drive. The members will use their own cars on this trip, and besides seeing some of the most beautiful scenery of the Rocky Mountain region, they will be afforded the opportunity of giving their cars a most thorough tryout as to their hill-climbing ability. The trip over the Crystal park drive will be the most trying stretch of road the tourists will encounter over their entire trip.

The selection of this route by the Indiana Automobile association practically assures Colorado Springs a place on the proposed ocean-to-ocean highway, as it is generally understood that the route selected by the Indiana Automobile association is the one which will be accepted. The movement for raising $100,000 for an ocean-to-ocean road was started by this association last September, and while the route is to be determined by a special committee, it is understood that a number of influential members of the American Automobile association will accompany this party.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its roads and highways committee, consisting of Leonard E. Curtis, chairman, E. L. Rouse, F. B. Stewart, George A. Krause and R. W. Chisholm, has been working with the Indiana association ever since it announced its intention of building a highway from New York to San Francisco, and have been assured that the route through this city will be given fair consideration.

RADICAL CHANGE IN CUSTOMS PROPOSED

System Will Be Simplified and Frauds Eliminated, Say Advocates

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Administrative changes in the tariff law which would revolutionize the existing customs system will be considered by a subcommittee of the senate finance committee tomorrow, when Assistant Attorney General Denison and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis will elaborate their recommendations that the secretary of the treasury be authorized to proclaim the dutiable value of imported merchandise, and that customs attorneys be prohibited from accepting contingent fees in appealing from decisions of collectors.

These officials also will urge that the appeals for the reappraisal of values of merchandise be taken from the board of United States general appraisers and lodged with a board of examiners to be composed of six or seven members appointed under the civil service. This board, Messrs. Denison and Curtis told Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee and Chairman Underwood of the house ways and means committee today, would be an investigatory body and would constitute an aggressive safeguard against fraudulent undervaluation. The board of general appraisers, acting as a judicial body, is not in a position, they hold, to conduct adequate investigations to determine the reappraisements.

Another change to be recommended to the senate subcommittee will be that in classification questions the board of general appraisers shall act by a single general appraiser instead of by a board of three, as at present.

The subcommittee to consider these questions will be Senators Williams, Gore and Shively.

Deputies Guarding Mines Leave Town, Fearing Explosion

WHARTON, N. J., May 16.—Terrified by frequent use of dynamite stolen from a magazine of the Mount Hope mine of the Empire Iron and Steel company, several hundred deputy sheriffs brought from Newark to protect the company's property here, refused tonight to remain in town.

The withdrawal of the deputies left the mine district unguarded except for a few private detectives. Sheriff Gillen sent word of the situation to Adjutant General Sadler of the state militia, who had left here some hours earlier, after making an investigation at the direction of Governor Fielder. The sheriff informed the adjutant general that the Morris county authorities

ROADS INDICTED GRANTING REBATE

VIOLATION ELKINS ACT IS ALLEGED

Government Claims Conspiracy in Restraint of Trade in Complaints

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 16.—Five indictments charging rebating and discrimination on 45 counts were returned late today against four railroads and a coal company by a federal grand jury here. The indictments set forth instances wherein it is alleged the laws were violated by the Vandavia, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis (Big Four); Chicago, Indiana & Southern; the Grand Trunk railroad, and the O'Garra Coal company.

The Vandavia is charged in three counts with rebating and the Big Four is accused in 21 counts with discriminating in favor of the coal company. The Big Four and the Chicago, Indiana & Southern are charged jointly in 20 counts with making discriminatory rates and concessions in favor of the O'Garra company.

Violation Elkins Act.

The Grand Trunk and the coal company are charged in 20 counts with receiving and granting concessions and discriminating. Seven counts jointly charge the Big Four, Chicago, Indiana & Southern, and the Grand Trunk railroad and the O'Garra Coal company with conspiracy in violation of the Elkins act of 1903.

The penalty that may be imposed for violating the Elkins law in case of conviction is a minimum fine of $1,000 on each count and a maximum of $20,000 for each count.

In the conspiracy charge, however, the companies may be fined $10,000 for each of the seven counts.

Coal Company Subsidiary.

In the seven joint conspiracy indictments against the Big Four, the Grand Trunk, the Chicago, Indiana & Southern and the O'Garra Coal company, the United States charges that these companies violated the Elkins act of 1903 by engaging in the transportation of coal from one state to another without upholding the maintaining their right tariffs and schedules.

One of the most startling facts the government hopes to establish is that the O'Garra Coal company, a New York corporation, is virtually owned by the Big Four, or by the New York Central, which in turn owns the Big Four.

Made Improper Loan.

In the first indictment the Vandavia is charged with borrowing a large amount of money from the Merchants National bank of St. Louis, Mo., which it is believed, was loaned indirectly to the Lumaghi Coal company of St. Louis, in consideration of which the Lumaghi Coal company agreed to ship all its coal and minerals over the Vandavia lines.

The 21 indictments against the Big Four allege that road discriminated in favor of the O'Garra Coal company in 1908 and 1909 by giving the company a smaller shipping rate out of Harrisburg and Eldorado than it gave other mining companies operating in that section.

The 21 indictments against the Big Four and the Chicago, Indiana & Southern allege, these roads jointly gave concessions to the O'Garra Coal company in transporting its coal from Harrisburg and Eldorado to South Bend, Ind.

Prof. Taft Flays DIRECT PRIMARIES

Declares Bosses Have Their Redeeming Features, for He Was Once One

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 16.—Statewide primaries are "extreme measures for political reform" and a national primary for the election of a president and other national officers is "almost beyond thought," said former President William H. Taft, who delivered today another lecture at Yale on "Some Problems of Modern Government."

Professor Taft said the primary was a means of electing good local officials, but the state and national conventions "give an opportunity for more mature deliberation than is possible at the polls."

A vital objection to the statewide primary, said Mr. Taft, "is the great advantage that men of wealth and great ambition have over merely good men. Such men are willing to spend money to obtain advertising and votes, while the well qualified men are unwilling or have not the means to spend."

Anent the Bosses.

Taking up the subject of bosses, Mr. Taft said "they have some redeeming qualities," and laughingly referred to himself as having had the reputation of being one. "The only reason why the government of Tammany Hall in New York has been tolerable is because leaders in New York have had thought for public opinion. It is a characteristic of all bosses that they entertain a healthy fear of defeat at the polls."

Professor Taft would dismiss chiefs of all federal offices, except postoffice, and would elevate the chief deputies in those offices with a raise of from

GRAFI SECRECY OVER ALIEN ACTION

Tentative Reply to Japanese Protest Drafted, But Is Not Made Public

BRYAN REFUSES TO TALK

All Hinges on Official Act of Gov. Johnson Japan Leaves Negotiations to U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A tentative draft of the reply of the United States government to the Japanese protest against California land legislation, prepared by John Basset Moore, counselor of the state department, was considered for two hours today by President Wilson and the cabinet. No intimation of its nature was made public. Secretary Bryan positively refusing to discuss either the proposed reply or Japan's protest.

The secretary made a statement deprecating efforts to guess at the varying phases of official negotiations, declaring that serious mischief might result and satisfactory conclusion be retarded or prevented. He referred to the fact that his present position obliged him to reverse his usual attitude toward public discussion of current issues.

Await Final Action.

There are indications that the state department is waiting final action by Governor Johnson on the alien land bill, either in the faint hope that at the last moment he might change his mind and veto the measure, or more probably with the purpose of having the approved act as a basis for further discussion. The Japanese government likewise is awaiting the governor's action with the keenest interest, indicating another move forward in the negotiations as soon as the bill has been signed.

While protesting against the California legislation, the Japanese government so far has suggested no remedy. That is left entirely to the United States, and it is believed here that even the idea of instituting proceedings to test the validity of the law may be abandoned.

Meanwhile, taking their cue from the president's statement last night regarding military and naval movements, the officials of both the war and navy department today were endeavoring to avoid issuing any orders or statements that would contribute to sensational reports of unusual activities in their departments.

Military Officials Reticent.

A number of army officers were ordered to Hawaii, but only to rejoin their commands in conformity with the law, limiting the length of detached service officers may have before resuming active duty.

At the navy department Secretary Daniels positively denied any connection between the few naval movements recorded in the last 24 hours and the Japanese situation. He took pains to point out that the departure yesterday from San Pedro for San Francisco of the big armored cruiser Maryland was simply in continuation of a test that is being made by that vessel of Pocomtous coal, which was arranged by the navy department about a month ago. The Maryland will end these coal tests at San Francisco. The navy department, it was stated, does not intend to send any vessels from the Atlantic to the Pacific side of the continent at this juncture.

Springs Pictures Developed; Finest Taken by Company

The Chamber of Commerce received a telephone communication from Denver yesterday afternoon, stating that the films of the moving pictures taken here a short time ago have been developed and are being printed. The printers informed them that all the pictures were good, and that several are among the finest the company has ever taken.

This will be good news to Colorado Springs people who have been planning to see these pictures next Monday and Tuesday at the Grand Opera house. The show will commence at 10 a. m. and will run continuously until 11 p. m. Besides the pictures taken here one or two reels of miscellaneous pictures will be shown. An admission of 5 cents for children and 10 cents for adults will be charged, and the proceeds will be turned over to the Chamber of Commerce to help pay the expense of having the pictures taken.

Gained Control Estate Through Hypnotism, Report

ST. LOUIS, May 15.—Dr. Ernest H. Cole, is charged in a suit filed in the circuit court here today with exercising hypnotic suggestion to dominate the mind of his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Cole, and to hold control of an estate valued at more than half a million dollars.

The suit was filed by Richard H. Cole and Mrs. Halle Cole, both of Los Angeles, Cal., a brother and sister of Dr. Cole, and seeks to set aside a voting trust agreement by which control of the estate of the late Nathan Cole is vested in Frederick N. Judson, as trustee.

Dr. Nathan Cole, a former mayor of St. Louis and member of congress, died March 4, 1904. He left no will, but according to the petition, he had signed what purported to be an irrevocable settlement of his affairs, providing for a voting trust under which it is charged, Attorney Judson controls the income of the estate and has allowed Dr. Ernest Cole to become manager. Among the heirs to the estate are Richard Cole of Los Angeles, Mrs. Rebecca Cole of St. Louis, Mrs. Nathan Cole, Jr. of Oakland, Cal., Herman Cole of Joplin, Mo., and Mrs. Reba Cole Siles of New York.

FELON ON FINGER PAIN INTENSE

Walked Floor Most of Night. Could Not Do Regular Work. Throbbing Almost Unbearable. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

413 No. Black St., Goldfield, Nev.—When I first commenced treating with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I had been suffering for two weeks excruciating pain from a felon on the third finger of my right hand. I had not been able to sleep for four nights in fact, walked the floor most of the night. My finger was very red, very much inflamed and more than twice its natural size. I could not do my regular work, for the pain in my finger was intense and the throbbing in the end of it almost unbearable.

I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they would apply flannel poultices but I did not feel any relief from those remedies, that is, the relief felt was only temporary. I happened to run across a circular about the efficacious results from the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I at once sent for a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I kept on using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for eleven days, at which time I opened the festering end of my finger and pressed the contents out. Two weeks after using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment my finger was cured. (Signed) Mrs. Laura A. Ellett, Nov. 18, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it the best.

FROZEN MEAT FROM AUSTRALIA LANDED IN UNITED STATES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Four hundred thousand pounds of frozen Australian beef and mutton—the first shipment of its kind to the Pacific coast—were landed here today from the steamer Tairāwhiti. The meat was sold in Australia with the understanding that only a nominal profit should be made here. If the agreement is violated, Australia will ship direct, eliminating the middleman's profit and assuming all the risk.

An immediate fall in prices is expected. California and the Pacific coast states, but have raised west of the Rockies mountains and comparative prices show that the average price is higher here than in Chicago. In an effort to mark down the food, independent dealers, arranged for the Australian shipment.

The Union Steamship company is so certain that the trade will be permanent, that it has placed orders for four refrigerated ships, to be used exclusively on the Australian-San Francisco run.

Girl Says False Testimony Sent Uncle to Prison

PERU, Colo., May 15.—Albino that she gave false testimony against her father in the state penitentiary for murder. Miss Edna Whitehead, aged 18 years, made a sworn statement to the police today in which she charged that she was forced by her father to give the testimony. The girl was arrested here a few days ago during a raid and is being held as a witness.

Her uncle, Robert Lee Whitehead, was bound to give the testimony as a charge of murdering William Haines at Goldens-Hill farm, near Whitehead was also charged with the crime. His testimony, and that of his wife and daughter, caused the conviction of Robert Whitehead.

Miss Whitehead in her sworn statement declared that she and her mother were threatened with death if they did not testify as directed by her father.

WOULD CEDE PART OF ALASKA TO ENGLAND

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A proposal to cede to Great Britain the coast strip of southeastern Alaska, 325 miles long and in some places eight or ten miles wide, was made in a joint resolution introduced today by Representative Stevens of Texas at the request of the Universal Peace union at Philadelphia. The resolution requests President Wilson to negotiate with Great Britain for a commission to investigate the possibility of rectifying the boundary of southeastern Alaska for the benefit of both parties.

The preamble sets forth that the border should be adjusted to remove the maritime boundary by which the Yukon territory, the northern half of British Columbia and almost the entire Mackenzie basin, an aggregate area nearly as large as the states east of the Mississippi river, are shut off from the coast strip from free use of the most direct route to the Pacific.

The resolution suggests that such a move would set an example in the policy of mutual concession that would constitute a glorious achievement in history.

Mr. E. H. Harriman has made an offer to the American Museum of Natural History to be presented each year to the railroad and its employees with best devices means for reducing the dangers of travel.

California now ranks first among all the states west of the Mississippi river in the value of mineral production.

German Coffee Cake Made Without Yeast

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine. There is no warm bread quite as appropriate for Sunday morning breakfast as German Coffee Cake. It is seldom made by housewives who do not bake their own bread. If K.C. double raise Baking Powder is used it will be just as good as if raised with yeast and it will have the further advantage of being fresh and warm. Save this recipe and try it next Sunday.

K.C. German Coffee Cake

Two and one-fourth cups sifted flour; 1 level teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonsful melted butter; 2 tablespoonsful sugar; 1 egg; milk.

Sift dry ingredients together, beat the egg, add milk and butter to the egg to make one and one-quarter cups; stir all together with inverted spoon to a stiff batter. Turn into biscuit pan and spread even. Brush top lightly with melted butter. Sprinkle sugar and ground cinnamon over the top. Bake in moderate oven.

Dutch Apple Cake or Prune Kuchen can be made with this same batter by covering the top with pared and sliced apples, or the top with pared and sliced prunes, and sides down. Dredge with sugar and cinnamon the same as for Coffee Cake.

Watchman Bound in Skyscraper While Two Burglars Loot Store

NEW YORK, May 15.—Two masked burglars bound and gagged Henry Bartel, night watchman at a Maiden Lane skyscraper, in the heart of the wholesale diamond district today, looted him in a vacant room and feloniously looted the safe of Sigmund Kohn, a diamond setter, with offices on the floor above. $1,000 in gems. They escaped with their booty. Bartel broke from his bonds an hour later and gave the alarm.

Bartel told the police that the two men leaped out of the shadows on the first floor about sunset, bore him to the floor and throttled him before he could make an outcry. They gagged him with handkerchiefs and bound him with ropes, he said. Leaving him, they used a diamond pointed cutter to remove the glass from Kohn's door. The safe, a small, old-fashioned affair, was easily pried open.

Reign of Terror Causes Anxiety

PITTSBURGH, May 15.—Frequent explosions of dynamite and powder within the last week in western Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, and attempts to explode heavily filled magazines are causing anxiety.

Since last Saturday a dozen persons have been killed, scores have been injured, some fatally and much property has been ruined.

Last Saturday 500 sticks of dynamite exploded in the magazine of the Sunshine Coal & Coke company's mine near Masontown, Pa., resulting in the death of four and injury of two scores, and yesterday there was an explosion of 1,700 pounds of dynamite and 70 kegs of powder stored in the magazine of the Consolidated Coal company at Echart, Mo., in which three were killed and a dozen injured.

Last Monday an attempt was made to blow up the Brownsville-Uniontown passenger train at Leckrone, Pa. A track walker found nine sticks of dynamite placed under the joints of the rails of the Monacaheela railroad.

OPEN HEARINGS ON TARIFF DEFEATED

Democrats Carry Out Telegram Despite Opposit

ATTACK WILSON'S ATTITUDE

Republicans Declare Majority Will Be Put Out of Power for Next 25 Years

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Democratic leaders in the senate were indignant today in their determination to refer the Underwood tariff bill to the finance committee for consideration without public hearings. The Penrose-La Follette amendment, directing that public hearings be held, was defeated by a vote of 41 to 38, and the motion of Senator Simmons to refer the bill then was passed without a roll call.

Two Democrats, Senators Russell and Thornton of Louisiana, voted for the Republican amendment. Senator Poindexter of Washington, Progressive, voted with the majority. Senator Jones of Washington, Republican, who previously had determined to vote against public hearings, announced just before roll call that he had changed his mind because the finance subcommittee were giving private hearings to some interests which he thought should be public.

James Defends Wilson. The closing day of debate on the issue of hearings was enlivened with discussion of the Democratic platform and its bearing on free sugar by Senator James of Kentucky, who vigorously defended the stand taken by President Wilson for free sugar, declared that the party had stood for free sugar and campaigned on it, and defied the Louisiana senators to find a man to whom President Wilson had ever told he was opposed to free sugar.

Clarke Chides Democrats. "The edict has gone forth," said Senator Clarke. "The real vote on this tariff will be taken here, as in the house, where it was taken in secret caucus. I know there are Democrats here who do not believe the bill is just and righteous altogether, who are willing to bow their heads to office and to ease the lash of party expediency."

Senator Walsh of Montana said he was in receipt of scores of telegrams urging him to vote for hearings. Most of them came from sugar interests, he said, but he believed not a single telegraph would be elucidated in hearings that

PREPARE TO PERPETUATE SUPREMACY

Will Carry on Extensive Publicity Campaign Headquarters in Washington

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The campaign for Democratic supremacy at the polls in 1914 and 1916 was opened here today, when the executive campaign committee of the Democratic national committee organized and discussed preliminary plans. The committee agreed upon permanent headquarters in Washington, the organization of an educational campaign, harmonious cooperation with the Democratic congressional committee, and with a continuous militant party organization from now until after the next presidential election at least.

Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house, and recognized as the president's spokesman in that body, was made chairman, and Rolla Wells of St. Louis, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, treasurer.

As the permanent headquarters, Thomas J. Pence of North Carolina, the former correspondent who conducted the Wilson press campaign, will be in charge of publicity. With him already is Col. John I. Martin of Missouri, sergeant-at-arms of the last and other national conventions of the Democracy.

Extensive Publicity Campaign. Plans agreed upon today contemplate the sending of Democratic letters from Washington to the approximately 10,000 weekly newspapers and 2,000 daily papers that have no special correspondents at the national capital. All this will require a large fund, and the committee decided to appeal to the various states for contributions.

The situation generally and the need for immediate organized campaign work was discussed at two sessions of the committee, and the conference will be resumed tomorrow. The committee, accompanied by Mr. Pence, called at the White house this afternoon and explained the plans for the educational campaign to President Wilson, who voiced his hearty approval.

Held Conferences Today. At tomorrow's meeting, the committee will confer with Representative Lloyd of Missouri, chairman, and Representative Pence of North Carolina, secretary, the retiring officers of the Democratic congressional committee, who were directed at a recent meeting to consult with the national committee, the president and Democratic senators regarding the president's proposal that the congressional committee be increased so as to secure the most effective cooperation in the congressional campaign two years hence.

It is probable that the congressional committee will be asked to name three representatives, and two senators to serve on a joint executive campaign committee for conducting the political battles in the next four years. The party leaders contemplate sending speakers under the auspices of this joint committee to outline the attitude of the administration whenever an occasion offers.

PROGRAM OUT FOR MASONIC MEMORIAL

Address by Dr. Samuel Garvin and Judge W. S. Morris. Music to Be a Feature

First Time in the History of Presbyterianism That Such Occurs

ATLANTA, Ga., May 16.—For the first time in the history of Presbyterianism, the four grand divisions of the church, the Southern, the Southern United and the Associate, met here today for the first time since the union communion service. Participating were more than 3,000 communicants, including delegates and commissioners to the Pan-Presbyterian conference and laymen from every section of the United States.

Presiding over the communion service, which was impressive in its simplicity, were Dr. J. S. Lovick, Dr. R. Russell and Dr. J. T. Stone, respectively moderators of the Southern, United and Northern assemblies. In an address, Dr. Russell laid special emphasis upon the significance attached to the union communion service as the forerunner of ultimate union of the whole church. A prayer by Dr. Lyons and pronouncement of the benediction by Dr. Stone closed the service.

BISHOP DOANE OF ALBANY, N. Y., DIES

One of Most Prominent Divines in the Eastern Church

NEW YORK, May 16.—(Saturday) Bishop Croswell Doane of Albany, in charge of the Albany diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, died at the Hotel Manhattan in this city shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. He was 81 years old.

Bishop Doane came here from Albany on Tuesday, accompanied by several of his nearest relatives. He was apparently in his usual health as he entered the hotel, but showed the effects of his age. He became ill Wednesday, and Dr. E. S. Hard, his family physician, was called, and remained in attendance.

Thursday night he was forced to take to his bed by an attack of heart trouble. By noon Friday he began to fail. The decline was gradual until death.

Bishop Doane came here to attend the quarterly meeting of the board of missions of the Episcopal church. He was present at the Wednesday and Thursday sessions.

Was Friend of Morgan. ALBANY, N. Y., May 16.—A man of high standing in the Episcopal church was Bishop Doane, sometimes referred to as "William of Albany" and among other dignitaries of the church his name was revered. He was an intimate friend of the late J. P. Morgan, and each meeting between the two men was marked by some show of affection.

Among Bishop Doane's many achievements, the establishment of All Saints cathedral stands out as the most prominent. In various cities in the diocese are lasting monuments, most of them in the form of homes for boys and girls, notably the Childs hospital here, where children of all creeds and races are treated, and St. Margaret's home for the care of foundling babies, connected with the hospital.

On many of the mooted questions of the day Bishop Doane was not afraid to express strenuous views. He was a consistent enemy of divorce. Woman suffrage, he always consistently opposed. He also advocated temperance reform.

William Croswell Doane was born in Boston, March 2, 1832, the son of George Washington Doane, descendant of Deacon John Doane, who came from England to Plymouth on one of three ships which brought the first settlers to Cape Cod between 1620 and 1632.

MILITANCY HURTING CAUSE IN THE U. S., SAYS DR. ANNA SHAW

LONDON, May 16.—Mrs. Charlotte Despard, in a speech tonight, defined the policy of the Women's Freedom league as favoring lawbreaking without violence. She said the women of the league refused to pay taxes, held meetings when forbidden, and in various ways manifested contempt for man-made laws, but they differed from the militant suffragettes by scrupulously refraining from damaging property and committing personal assaults. The league recently was refused the use of its usual meeting hall because of incendiary speeches made by its leaders.

NAME OF SECRETARY BRYAN CAUSES LIVELY PROTEST AT CONFERENCE

Score Divorce Evil

An interesting feature of the day was the adoption by the Northern assembly of a resolution presented by the committee on Christian life and work, bearing directly upon the "divorce evil" and making recommendations for enactment of uniform legislation on marriage and divorce. Recommendations to the effect that the divorce be made a conspicuous agency of the church, and that the assembly interchurch federations, also, were adopted.

A spirited discussion was precipitated in the Southern assembly session today when the report of a special committee containing a "brief, popular statement of the belief of the Presbyterian church in the United States, and containing an important reference to the 'elect infant clause,' was submitted. Action upon the report was deferred until Tuesday. Two members of the committee submitted a minority report directly at variance with that of the majority. One says:

Minority Report. "All who die in infancy, and all others who are incapable of exercising choice, are regenerated and saved by Christ through the spirit who works when and where and how he pleases."

Overtures favoring organic union were read and referred to a special committee to consist of one member from each synod.

At the morning session of the United assembly, a lively protest followed the proposal to include in a telegram to President Wilson commending him for his stand on moral questions, the name of Secretary of State Bryan. It was decided to send the message to the president only.

Arrangements have been made by the Presbyterians of Atlanta to tender a mammoth reception to the commissioners of the three general Presbyterian assemblies tomorrow at Agnes Scott college.

INDIANA AUTO MEN COME HERE JULY 10

Visit on Tour to Coast Indicates Springs Will Be on Ocean-to-Ocean Road

First Time in the History of Presbyterianism That Such Occurs

A telegram was received yesterday by the roads and highways committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which Leonard E. Curtis is chairman, from J. K. Rouse, vice president of the Lincoln Highway association at Burlington, Colo., to the effect that the Indiana Automobile Manufacturers association transcontinental tour will go over the Golden Belt route and Lincoln highway into Colorado Springs.

The tour will be from Indianapolis to St. Louis and from there to Kansas City and Colorado Springs, Colorado, with the road July 10 and the night will be spent at Burlington. Lunch will be taken at Limon the next day, and the night stop will be in Colorado Springs. No definite advice has been received as to the route to be taken out of this city west.

One of the special features of the step made in Colorado Springs will be the trip over the Crystal park drive. The members will use their own cars on this trip, and besides seeing some of the most beautiful scenery of the Pikes Peak region, they will be afforded the opportunity of giving their cars a most thorough test as to their hill-climbing ability. The trip over the Crystal park drive will be the most trying stretch of road the tourists will encounter over their entire trip.

The selection of this route by the Indiana Automobile association practically assures "Colorado Springs" a place on the proposed ocean-to-ocean highway, as it is generally understood that the route selected by the Indiana Automobile association is the one which will be accepted. The movement for raising $10,000,000 for an ocean-to-ocean road was started by this association last September, and while the route is to be determined by a special committee, it is understood that a number of influential members of the American Automobile association will accompany this party.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its roads and highways committee, consisting of Leonard E. Curtis, chairman, F. L. Rouse, P. B. Stewart, George A. Kreuse and R. W. Johnson, has been working with the Indiana association ever since it announced its intention of building a highway from New York to San Francisco, and have been assured that the route through this city will be given fair consideration.

RADICAL CHANGE IN CUSTOMS PROPOSED

System Will Be Simplified and Frauds Eliminated, Say Advocates

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Administrative changes in the tariff law which would revolutionize the existing customs system will be considered by a subcommittee of the senate finance committee tomorrow, when Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Curtis will elaborate their recommendations that the secretary of the treasury be authorized to proclaim the variable value of imported merchandise, and that customs attorneys be prohibited from accepting contingent fees in appealing from decisions of collectors.

These officials also will urge that the appeals for the reappraisal of values of merchandise be taken from the board of United States general appraisers, and lodged with a board of examiners to be composed of six or seven members appointed under the civil service. This board, Messrs. Denison and Curtis told Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee, and Chairman Underwood of the House ways and means committee today, would be an investigatory body and would constitute an aggressive safeguard against fraudulent undervaluation. The board of general appraisers, acting as a judicial body, is not in a position, they hold, to conduct adequate investigations to determine the reappraisements.

Another change to be recommended to the senate subcommittee will be that in classification questions the board of general appraisers shall act by a single general appraiser instead of by a board of three as at present.

The subcommittee to consider these questions will be Senators Williams, Gore and Shivers.

ROADS INDICTED GRANTING REBATE

VIOLATION ELKINS ACT IS ALLEGED

Government Claims Conspiracy in Restraint of Trade in Complaints

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 16.—Five indictments charging rebating and discrimination on 43 counts were returned today against four railroads and a coal company, by a federal grand jury here. The indictments set forth instances wherein it is alleged the bias were violated by the Vandallia, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis (Big Four), Chicago, Indiana & Southern, the Grand Trunk railroad, and the O'Gara Coal company.

The Vandallia is charged in three counts with rebating and the Big Four is accused in 21 counts with discriminating and granting concessions and discriminating. Seven counts jointly charge the Big Four, Chicago, Indiana & Southern, and the Grand Trunk railroad, and the O'Gara Coal company with conspiracy in violation of the Elkins act of 1903.

The penalty that may be imposed for violating the Elkins law in case of conviction is a minimum fine of $1,000 on each count and a maximum of $20,000 for each count.

In the conspiracy charge, however, the companies may be fined $10,000 for each of the seven counts.

Coal Company Subsidiary

In the seven joint conspiracy indictments against the Big Four, the Grand Trunk, the Chicago, Indiana & Southern, and the O'Gara Coal company, the United States charges that these companies violated the Elkins act of 1903 by engaging in the transportation of coal from one state to another without upholding the maintaining their right tariffs and schedules.

One of the most startling facts the government hopes to establish is that the O'Gara Coal company, a New York corporation, is virtually owned by the Big Four, or by the New York Central, which in turn owns the Big Four.

Made Improper Loan

In the first indictment the Vandallia is charged with borrowing a large amount of money from the Merchants' National bank of St. Louis, Mo., which it is believed, was loaned indirectly to the Lumaghi Coal company of St. Louis, in consideration of which the Lumaghi Coal company agreed to ship all its coal and minerals over the Vandallia lines.

The 21 indictments against the Big Four allege that road discriminated in favor of the O'Gara Coal company in 1908 and 1909 by giving the company a smaller shipping rate out of Harrisburg and Eldorado than it gave other mining companies operating in that section.

The 21 indictments against the Big Four and the Chicago, Indiana & Southern allege these roads jointly gave concessions to the O'Gara Coal company in transporting its coal from Harrisburg and Eldorado to South Bend, Ind.

GREAT SECRECY OVER ALIEN ACTION

Tentative Reply to Japanese Protest Drafted, But Is Not Made Public

BRYAN REFUSES TO TALK

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A tentative draft of the reply of the United States government to the Japanese protest against California land legislation prepared by John Bassett Morgan, counselor of the state department, was considered for two hours today by President Wilson and the cabinet. No intimation of its nature was made public. Secretary Bryan positively refused to discuss either the proposed reply or Japan's protest.

The secretary made a statement deprecating efforts to guess at the varying phases of official negotiations, declaring that serious mischief might result and satisfactory conclusion be retarded or prevented. He referred to the fact that his present position obliged him to reverse his usual attitude toward public discussion of current issues.

Await Final Action

There are indications that the state department is waiting final action by Governor Johnson upon the alien land bill, either in the faint hope that at the last moment he might change his mind and veto the measure, or more probably with the purpose of having the approved action as a basis for further discussion. The Japanese government likewise is awaiting the government action with the keenest interest, indicating another move forward in the negotiations as soon as the bill has been signed.

While protesting against the California legislation, the Japanese government so far has suggested no remedy. That is left entirely to the United States, and it is believed here that even the idea of instituting proceedings to test the validity of the law may be abandoned.

Meanwhile, taking their cue from the president's statement, just night regarding military and naval movements, the officials of both the war and navy department today were endeavoring to avoid issuing any orders or statements that would contribute to sensational reports of unusual activities in their departments.

Military Officials Reluctant

A number of army officers were ordered to Hawaii, but only to retain their commands in conformity with the law limiting the length of detached service officers may have before resuming active duty.

At the navy department Secretary Daniels positively denied any connection between the few naval movements recorded in the last 24 hours and the Japanese situation. He took pains to point out that the departure yesterday from San Pedro for San Francisco of the big armored cruiser Maryland was simply in continuation of a test that is being made by that vessel of Pocomontas coal, which was arranged by the navy department about a month ago. The Maryland will end these coal tests at San Francisco. The navy department, it was stated, does not intend to send any vessels from the Atlantic to the Pacific side of the continent at this juncture.

FOREIGN PROTESTS TO TARIFF BILL

LONDON, May 16.—The foreign office has notified the Newcastle chamber of commerce that the British ambassador at Washington has been instructed to make representations to the United States government on the subject of that section of the tariff bill which provides for the exclusion from entry of all merchandise shipped to the United States in case-manufacture or shipper shall refuse to submit to the inspection of a duly accredited investigating officer of the United States his records or accounts pertaining to the value or classification of such merchandise.

RHEIMS, France, May 16.—The chamber of commerce of Rheims forwarded today a protest to the French government against the tariff bill now before the United States congress. The protest is based especially on the clauses of the bill authorizing American consular agents to examine the books of exporters. Such action, it says, might gravely prejudice national industry.

COLONEL GORGAS ON THE PANAMA CANAL

From the Journal of the American Medical Association.

All Americans are interested in and proud of the great canal now nearing completion in Panama. In an address recently delivered before the students of Johns Hopkins university, Colonel Gorgas explained exactly what was being done by our engineers. Speaking of the plan which was being followed, he said that, in the ordinary acceptance of the words, we are not building a canal at Panama. We are building two lakes, one on the northern side of the mountain chain, which is the backbone of the isthmus, and the other on the south side. The engineers, in selecting the location for the canal, sought the lowest point in the mountain chain extending from Patagonia to Alaska. This was found to be at Culebra on the isthmus of Panama. The isthmus of Panama here runs east and west with a mountain chain running in the same direction. They then took the river rising nearest Culebra on the north, the Chagres, and dammed it. This makes the large northern lake, Gatun. They then found the river which rose nearest Culebra on the south, the Rio Grande, and dammed this, making the southern lake, Miraflores. They then connected the two lakes by means of a canal about nine miles long, cutting the mountain ridge at Culebra. They then connected the northern lake with the Caribbean sea by a sea-level canal about eight miles long, and the southern lake with the Pacific ocean by means of a similar canal. We now have, commencing on the north at the Caribbean sea, a sea-level canal eight miles long, connecting the Caribbean sea with the northern lake, Lake Gatun; then south, 23 miles through this lake, then another canal nine miles long through the mountain ridge, connecting the northern lake with the southern lake; then about two miles through this southern lake, Lake Miraflores; then another eight miles of sea-level canal connecting the southern lake with the Pacific ocean. The level of the lake is 55 feet above the level of the ocean. Looks, therefore, have to be placed in the dams so as to raise and lower the ships between these levels. This work is now drawing to its close. The chief engineer states that he will be passing ships through from ocean to ocean by July, 1913.

COLLEGE MAN OF 1413

From Harper's Weekly.

Oxford university is composed of 21 colleges. Among the largest of these is the one that although it has stood for 500 years, is still called "New." It was built 100 years before the discovery of America by William de Wykeham and was an expression of the most advanced ideas of education entertained in his day. So far as the architecture and plan of the buildings are concerned, the five centuries that have since elapsed have suggested but little that is better. England and American college builders still follow de Wykeham's model.

The undergraduate in de Wykeham's time, in order to obtain his B. A. degree, studied the logic of Porphyry and Boethius, something of Aristotle, and enough of arithmetic to enable him to find Easter. Three years more were usually spent in studying geometry, astronomy, and astrology. He lived in college. His allowance of money was one shilling a week. His breakfast was a piece of bread and a pot of beer at dawn. His dinner was eaten at 10 in the morning. He was given one suit of clothes yearly. Three times a year each student was required secretly to tell the masters of the misbehavior of his fellows, who then received competent chastisement. The rules laid down by de Wykeham prohibited visits to taverns or "spectacles" (the keeping of dogs, the playing of chess, shooting with arrows or other missiles, dancing, juggling, wrestling, or other incautious and inordinate amusements). The only recreation permitted was the assembling around the fire on winter nights to indulge in "singing, or the reading of poems and chronicles of the realm and of the wonders of the world."

BAPTISTS MEET IN NASHVILLE NEXT YEAR

Committee Appointed to Work on Program to Bring All Churches Closer

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—The Southern Baptist convention chose Nashville, Tenn., as the next place of meeting and fixed May 13, 1914, as the date.

The present special committee of the convention was reappointed to meet and work with similar committees from other Protestant churches to see what could be done towards getting closer together on articles of faith. A movement to organize all the Baptists west of the Mississippi river into a separate convention was met by the introduction of resolutions by President E. N. Mullins of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary of Louisville expressing feelings of fraternity and sympathy for the work being done in the theological seminaries at Fort Worth, Tex., and Liberty, Mo.

The delegates from Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas have complained that they have to go too far to a convention meeting place and that they do not get proper consideration in administrative affairs. The offices generally going to states far east of the Mississippi river. It was decided by the officers of the convention that the proposed amendment to the constitution allowing women on the floor as delegates would have to go over until next year. The Women's Missionary union rejected its present officers.

appropriations to the ministerial relief committee from 12 to 2 per cent. After Dr. S. M. Cleland of Wilmington, Del., and Dr. G. M. McCormick of Salinas, Cal., had urged that all suggestion of "charity" be taken from the donations to aged ministers, Dr. J. A. Wilson of Pittsburg declared it "disgraceful that widows of our ministers are doing out of their pockets for the support of their husbands." It was decided to appoint a layman's committee to devise a better relief plan.

Greater cooperation to combat evil was urged before the United assembly by Dr. S. R. Frenchie of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, who suggested a union of churches. Dr. Russell, the new moderator of the United church, declared in reply: "We are in a position to link hands with the batteries of heaven and electrocute the devil now."

Women Oppose Consolidation.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—That the Women's General Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church does not look with favor on the proposed union of the Presbyterian bodies, was evident here tonight at the closing session of the thirteenth annual convention of the women's organization. One of the last acts of the convention was to adopt a resolution presented by Mrs. H. R. Campbell of Pittsburg, in part as follows, which was telegraphed to the general assembly at Atlanta: "We would therefore deplore any union with any denomination which would in any way minimize our work or cause us to take any action which would limit our future progress and advancement in the work of the establishment of the Master's kingdom."

The great calamity in Omaha was quickly overshadowed by the terribly disastrous floods in Ohio. Great suffering and sickness from colds and exposure resulted, which Foley's Honey and Tar Compound helped to alleviate. L. Poole, 221 California St., Omaha, writes: "My daughter had a severe cough and cold, but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound knocked it out in no time. My wife would not keep house without it. We have used it for years, always with good results." Robinson Drug Co., Adv.

PEACE IN THE BALKANS IS NOT YET CONCLUDED

PARIS, May 16.—In a review of the international situation in the chamber of deputies tonight M. Pichon, the foreign minister, referred to the fact that a definite treaty of peace between Turkey and the Balkan allies had not yet been concluded; that the boundary of Albania had not been settled; and that the question as to the future ownership of the Aegean islands had not been solved.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS ELECT OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, May 16.—After a session lasting four days, the Catholic Knights of America, in their sixteenth annual meeting, elected officers at midnight and adjourned to meet at Mobile in 1918. The officers elected were: Supreme president—Dr. Felix Gaudin, New Orleans; Supreme vice president—George B. Landwehr, Cumberland, Md.; Supreme secretary—Anthony Matre, St. Louis; Supreme treasurer—Charles E. Hahnauer, St. Louis; Supreme trustees—Peter J. Wallrath, Evansville, Ind., and Michael Quinn, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE LONGEST SIEGE

From the London Chronicle.
Cromwell deserves mention in our list of memorable sieges, for in Catalan history we find the longest siege on record, beside which Troy's ten years seem but a skirmish. In 1648 the Turks, attempting to conquer the island laid siege to the capital city of Candia, which, however, did not surrender until September, 1669, after twenty-one years. Again in 1821, when the Greeks revolted, the defeated Turks were able to hold the fortified city against all attacks, and many of them were still unscathed when the powers intervened nine years later.

GEN. BLANCO IS ON WAY TO MATAMORAS

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 16.—

General Blanco, commander of the rebel forces in the state of Tamaulipas, Mexico, abandoned his camp at Rio Bravo today, according to a dispatch from a United States official at a point opposite that town, and is marching eastward toward Matamoras at the head of the main body of his troops. It is understood, however, that he will await the arrival of additional revolutionists reported coming up from the south, before attacking Matamoras, across the boundary at Brownsville. Rio Bravo is 55 miles west of Matamoras. It also was reported that rebels and federalists clashed today at Reynolds, the scene of a battle last Saturday. This report, however, has not been verified.

Policarpo Susa, manager of the Compania Agricola de Tamaulipas, has been taken prisoner by General Blanco, who it is said, has demanded that Susa's company pay $50,000 into the rebel treasury as a loan. No charges are pending against Susa and the dispatch adds he is being treated with "due consideration."

Villa New Commander.

EL PASO, Tex., May 16.—Francisco Pancho Villa has been named commander of the constitutional forces in Chihuahua state by Governor Carranza of Coahuila, commander-in-chief of the revolution, said dispatches received today by the El Paso committee. He at present is operating with 400 men west of Chihuahua city.

Before the Madero revolution, Villa was a self-admitted bandit chief, but on joining Madero's insurrection became a reformed man and was made a general. It was Villa who recently seized a large quantity of silver and gold bullion, which was returned to the American owners on the payment of a proportionate value of the metal.

No Fear Attack.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—State department reports from Ciudad Juarez indicate that although a portion of the federal force at that point has been ordered to Chihuahua, there is no fear of an attack on the town, as both factions seem willing to share the benefits of an open port and railway traffic. No complaints have been received of

GOVT. POLICY DENOUNCED AS FAVORING INTERESTS

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A petition asking that Secretary Lane send a personal representative to the Klamath reclamation project in Oregon to "see just what was the fair and just thing to do" was submitted to the secretary today at the reclamation conference being held at the interior department. Abel A. J. one of the settlers, presented the petition as the climax of a long list of criticisms of the government's course. He denounced the government's policy in the past as being in the interest of the speculators who own land adjacent to reclamation projects and hard on the settlers.

was not already known, and he would vote against them.

Senator Newlands of Nevada spoke briefly on the sugar schedule, protesting against the sugar production of this country to Cuba.

Minor Changes Suggested.

The finance committee will meet next week to hear reports from the subcommittees engaged in consideration of various statistics of the bill, and Chairman Simmons hopes to report the bill to the senate by June 1. Already quite a number of minor changes have been suggested by the subcommittees. These will be considered in the party caucus to be called before the bill is reported.

The senators' private gallery was filled with guests today, and in the president's gallery were the Misses Margaret and Eleanor Wilson and a party of friends. They remained until a vote had been taken.

Senator Newlands resumed his speech after the vote to refer, and closed with a warning to the Democratic party. He pointed out that the party controlled the senate now by only a few votes, and predicted that the passage of the present tariff bill might put their opponents once more in power. He said that revision downward had been promised the country, but not free trade.

Platform Favored Reduction.

Senator James declared that the platform adopted at the Baltimore convention approved the course of the Democratic house in the last session of congress and that it included approval of the Underwood free sugar bill. He read a paragraph from the Democratic campaign text book approving "the excellent record of the house in placing sugar on the free list."

Senator Ransdell asked if President Wilson had not declared in a speech at Pittsburgh that he did not stand for free trade.

Senator James returned that the president was not a free trader and that the proposed bill calculated to raise $200,000,000 in revenue was not a free trade bill.

ident was not a free trader and that the proposed bill calculated to raise $200,000,000 in revenue was not a free trade bill.

"If you say President Wilson is a free trader because he favors free sugar," demanded Senator James, "did you call yourself a free trader when you voted free bread and free shoes?"

Senator Ransdell denied he was a free trader and asked if the Democratic national committee had not instructed its creators in the west not to discuss free sugar and also if the party would not have been defeated if they had discussed it there.

"I know the Chicago headquarters so instructed Representative Aswell of Louisiana," he declared.

Defines "Legitimate Industry."

Senator James referred to the point made by the Louisiana leaders that President Wilson and the administration had declared against tariff reduction, which would injure any legitimate industry.

"By 'legitimate industry' in the platform," said the Kentucky senator, "is meant industrially legitimate and commercially legitimate industry. It does not refer to an industry which has had 125 years of government aid and protection and is yet unable to take care of itself."

Senator James eloquently praised President Wilson's stand for free sugar. "If William H. Taft had had half the courage of Woodrow Wilson he would have vetoed the Payne-Aldrich bill and bonfires would have been burned on every hillside in his honor and in my opinion he would have been respected."

President Wilson says he is in favor of free sugar and free wool and wants no compromise. At Pittsburgh he wanted he did not want to destroy any legitimate industry. I challenge you to find anybody to whom Woodrow Wilson ever said he was not in favor of free sugar."

Senator Ransdell inquired if he considered the sugar business of the south and west legitimate.

"Legally but not economically," replied Senator James.

Smoot and Smith in Tilt.

Senator Smoot and Senator Smith of Georgia clashed when the Utah senator called on his colleagues to compare the bill as it now appears and when it comes from the finance committee.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that the cotton schedule will be changed. I have no doubt that some interests will be taken care of. Why cotton any more than wool or sugar?"

"Does the senator mean that the rate on cotton is to be changed because people in an estate are interested in it?" demanded Senator Smith.

"Does the senator say that he has not promised that the cotton rate shall be changed?" retorted Senator Smoot.

"I have promised nobody anything. Not a suggestion has come to me of a raise on the cotton rate from Georgia, but suggestions have come from New England for raises."

Senator Smith indicated that the purpose of the Democrats was to have schedules approved by subcommittees, then by the full Democratic membership of the finance committee and then by a caucus.

who have maintained their allegiance to the government of Mexico.

A vigorous fight was made to have the bill apply only to aliens ineligible to citizenship on behalf of the Mexican holders of property in Arizona.

There are few Japanese holding property in the state though many Chinese hold title and these, like the noncitizens among the Mexicans, will be required to dispose of the real estate titles they now hold within a period of five years.

The law exempts only mining claims held by aliens or real property necessary to the proper working of mines. Representative Japanese conferred with the governor in an effort to induce him to veto the bill, but he declined on the ground such a law was necessary in the interest of the white race.

The governor added that the law was made to apply to all aliens in compliance with the wishes of the national administration as expressed during the session of the California legislature.

DR. MALCOLM WATSON DROVE MOSQUITOES FROM MALAY

Dr. Malcolm Watson of Klang, the Malay peninsula, is in Washington on his way to the Panama canal zone to study mosquitoes and malaria, after having driven the pest from the Malay peninsula.

Dr. Watson has apparently solved the problem of health in the Malay peninsula so far as the malarial problem is concerned. The government is spending thousands of dollars to drain large areas of low, or swampy, land. Much of the land is rocky, and blasting is required to make trenches. Realizing, however, that this means the solution of the material problem, the government is sparing nothing in the way of assistance either of money or men to carry out the plan.

Dr. Watson is a Scotchman. He went to the Malay peninsula in the government service. The solutions of problems there interested him so greatly, and have resulted so well, that he intends now to extend his study, and will spend some time looking over conditions in the Panama canal district, especially studying the yellow fever problem.

ANHUT DENIES HE OFFERED A BRIBE Both Sides Rest After Day of Contradictory Evidence in Trial

NEW YORK, May 16.—Contradictory testimony on the vital point of whether a $20,000 bribe was offered to Dr. John W. Russell, former head of the Matteawan hospital, to release Harry K. Thaw, was given by leading witnesses for the prosecution and defense today in the trial of John N. Anhut in the United States district court.

Testifying in his own defense, Anhut denied he ever offered to bribe Dr. Russell, or any one else. For the prosecution, Dr. Russell had testified that he met Anhut in this city on November 22, last, and that the defendant said to him:

"Doctor, I have $25,000 here, and any part of this is yours if you discharge Thaw."

Dr. Russell declined the offer, he testified, telling Anhut that position and honor would be sacrificed if he accepted.

Both Sides Rest.

Both sides rested today. In opening for the defense, Anhut's counsel declared he would show that the $25,000 Thaw turned over to the defendant was a contingent fee only, and that no effort was made to bribe Dr. Russell.

Anhut testified that with Thaw's money he purposed to obtain Thaw's release by legal measures by January 1, last, or July, next, when if Thaw was still confined, the money is to be returned. He accepted the fee he said with honest expectations of beginning court proceedings before the first of this year.

He declared he could produce office records to show this and offered to bring them to court tomorrow. Thaw's family knew nothing of the move, he added.

Reiterating his denial that he tried to bribe Dr. Russell, Anhut said that, in a talk with the physician in December, Dr. Russell, learning that Thaw had given the lawyer money, said:

Doctor Wanted Share.

"Where do I come in?" he told Dr. Russell that he could not give the physician any of the money. Anhut explained his meetings with Dr. Russell by saying his purpose was to secure a license to practice medicine in New York, and previous proceedings to have Thaw declared sane.

Frank Henry, one of the attorneys who testified for Anhut, said he had gone with Anhut to Albany as his counsel when Anhut appeared before the governor's committee of inquiry.

Mr. Henry declared that Judge Norton of counsel for the governor's committee, said to him at that time: "We want your testimony very much, and we want you to go the limit. Anhut will have protection from the committee and from the governor as a result of his testimony."

Henry said that Mr. Lynn, one of the investigators, said to him:

"We want to tear things wide apart. The governor is with you, and let us see if you have anything against Colonel Scott." He is the man we want to get."

Col. Scott Removed.

Colonel Scott, who was superintendent of state prisons, and had jurisdiction over the Matteawan institution, since has been removed by Governor Seligman.

Similar testimony was given by Edward L. Beer, the other Anhut attorney, at the Albany investigation.

Honore A. Hoffman, a confidential agent for Thaw, testified that early in November last Thaw gave him $5,000 in cash and a handful of stock certificates to be given Anhut. Two receipts for $12,500 each were given him by Anhut, and these Thaw had photographed. January 1 found Thaw still at Matteawan, and Hoffman was sent to Anhut to get back the stock. Anhut declared, the witness said, that he did not have it—that he had sold it.

Subsequently, Hoffman continued, Anhut returned a portion of the stock. The witness contradicted a portion of Thaw's testimony yesterday by asserting that the next took papers relating to one of the Thaw bearings from Thaw to Anhut.

Children Dance on Green

The experiment tried by the Bristol school yesterday, that of having children dance in Monument Valley park was a decided success. The weather was all that could be desired, and the grassy slopes of the park were gay with the dresses of mothers and little sisters and brothers (there were the usual few and far between fathers, to be sure) but their attire does not add to the gaiety of a scene, and the white dresses and bright sashes and gaudies of the children who danced. The teachers who had the day in charge have been untiring in their training, and there has never been a better exhibition of folk dancing than yesterday's program gave.

There are difficulties in dancing on the grass, when former lessons have all been given indoors. It is hard for one thing, to practice much out of doors, on account of the lack of music. But all the quaint old dances are especially adapted for grassy places, and certainly the background of May trees and shrubs yesterday was an incentive to the dancers to overcome all difficulties in the way of dancing there.

The music was furnished by Miss Hall of Colorado college, who played the piano, and Mr. Batley, who played the violin. These two musicians gave their services because of their interest in the cause, and the school is grateful. In the intermission the dancers were served with ice-cream cones. As a refutation to the almost universal idea that boys do not care for this sort of dancing, the honors of the afternoon were carried off by the boys who danced the "Indian," as given by the freshman class of the Swedish university. There were boys, too, among the girls in several other dances, each one seemingly having a very good time.

Some of the dances were quite familiar, and others have not been seen much in Colorado Springs. National differences of costume were carried out by crepe paper streamers and garlands, making each dance distinctive and each one attractive. The "Gossipy Ella" dance, the "French Peasants" dance, graceful as all things, is supposed to be the "Weavers" dance. The "Washing Clothes" were some that were particularly interesting; but the dancers who took part in these numbers were older than the others, and it was natural that they should keep better time together. The younger pupils did remarkably well, all of them.

The Nixie polka is always popular with the dancers, but it is seldom so jolly as it was yesterday. Nearly all the dancers joined in the large circle, and the number of dancers, with the mixture of bright colors, made the fun doubly pleasant, and there were so many taking part that the pleasures of choosing and being chosen were long drawn out.

There is no doubt of the attractiveness of the outdoor dancing, and many of those who saw yesterday's program expressed the hope that the park might be used more and more by the pupils.

Crimson Will Wave Today

Today will be a busy day for the Harvard men in Colorado Springs. President A. Lawrence Lowell, who with his wife is making a tour of the Associated Harvard clubs, and will attend the convention in St. Louis next week, will arrive this afternoon on the Rock Island, and the local alumni are making plans to give him a royal welcome.

A dinner will be given in his honor this evening at the golf club, arrangements being in charge of Mr. Dunbar E. Carpenter. While President Lowell is being entertained there, Mrs. William F. Shuman will entertain Mrs. Lowell and a number of friends at her home.

Among the guests at the dinner will be: President Stoum, Mr. Horace Gray, Mr. J. H. Gibson Bell, the Rev. Frank Hale, Mr. T. W. Bortree, Mr. Dunbar E. Carpenter, Mr. Ralph Boothby, Mr. William H. Evans, Mr. Dan Knowlton, Mr. Henry Cobb Nickerson, Mr. Clifford Parker, Mr. E. C. Hills, Mr. Harold A. Nye, Mr. Frank H. H. Ewing, Mr. Terry and Mr. Wilson.

Tomorrow President Lowell will speak at the college vesper service, and it is probable that he will also speak at chapel Monday morning. He will be shown all the departments of the college, and it is expected that his visit will deepen the interest always felt in Colorado college by the Cambridge institution.

ACCUSED OF THEFT

Jack Crane, who had been working at the forestry camp in North Cheyenne canon before he was discharged recently, was arrested last night on complaint of others at the camp that he had gone through their coats and stolen a good deal of small change. The witness against Crane, who it is said, saw him going through the pockets, also has been discharged, and has left town. For this reason the case against Crane is weak, but the men who caused his arrest probably will appear against him in police court this morning and have him prosecuted as a vagrant.

Worth Weight in Gold

Abingdon, Va.—Mrs. Jennie McCall, of this place, says: "I had been troubled with female complaints for over ten years. I could not walk or stand on my feet, and had been almost confined to the house for a long time. I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, and now I can walk anywhere I want to go. Cardui is worth its weight in gold." This is a high estimate on a plain, herb medicine, yet there are thousands of women who would gladly pay this price for a remedy to relieve their suffering. Cardui has helped others. Why not you? Try it. Your druggist sells it, in $1 bottles. Adv.

MILITANCY HURTING CAUSE

said the conduct of women in England had satisfied the people of the United States that the women with the ballot would be safe, and that consequently the American women were being voted down.

The men of America, Dr. Shaw declared, are using the agitation of the Englishwomen as a club over American women and trying to make themselves responsible and untrustworthy. But that was merely cowardly excuse for cowardly men to cover their own cowardice and inconsistency, she added.

To Wreck Express Train.

There was a startling sequel today to the warning received by the officials of the Midland railroad on May 12 in the form of an anonymous letter which said:

"It is my duty to inform you that a desperate act will be attempted in a few days to wreck a main line express."

Two men, giving the names of John Wilson and James Lucas, were arrested before daybreak on a high viaduct near Whaley in Lancashire, which carries the Midland tracks connecting Manchester and Liverpool with Scotland.

Crowbars, sledge hammers and other tools were found in the vicinity. The prisoners were remanded for a week in custody.

The affair has caused a sensation throughout Lancashire, where it is firmly believed the men were about to attempt to realize the militant suffragette threat to wreck a main line express train.

A bridge over the Great Western Park station in the west end of London, also was the object of a suffragette "bomb" attack today. The canister used was filled with cartridges enclosed in cotton which was saturated with paraffin oil. The attached fuse had been ignited, but had gone out.

Can Publish the Suffragette.

A defeat has been inflicted on the government by "the wild women" in the matter of suppression of the militant suffragette newspaper, the Suffragette.

After Archibald Bodkin, counsel for the treasury, had announced that the government would prosecute anyone printing the newspaper in the future, the labor press and some of the liberal newspapers which are the strongest supporters of the present cabinet, protested that this was an infringement of the liberty of the press. The former Socialist member of parliament, George Lansbury, and the Socialist member, James Keir-Hardie, offered personally to undertake the publication of the paper but the suffragettes declined their offer with scorn.

Thereupon the home office issued a statement declaring that Mr. Bodkin's announcement had been misconstrued and that the Women's Social and Political Union or any publisher could issue the Suffragette so long as it did not contain any incitements to violence.

Sidney Dream, the former publisher, has written to the home office that he was compelled to promise that he "will not hereafter directly or indirectly take part in printing the Suffragette or any other organ of the Women's Social and Political Union, and he wants to know what steps are now to be taken to relieve him from this undertaking."

The special interest taken by the labor party in the question of the Suffragette was shown because the labor newspapers frequently come into collision with the government. This is the case in regard to the general conscription for the army and in the event of this becoming the policy of the government which the labor party fears.

PRETTY SUFFRAGETTE MAY HAVE TO SPEND LIFE AT SEA

MISS ELSIE MCKENZIE OF NEW YORK

Before starting for Canada en route to England, Miss Elsie McKenzie, the pretty militant suffragette, who was the first one to inaugurate hunger striking at the famous Holloway jail in London, declared that in embarking on the trip she was running the risk of being compelled to spend the rest of her days on the high seas. "On account of my prison record in England," said Miss McKenzie, "the British authorities may not allow me to enter England, in which case the present laws would compel the United States to refuse to allow me to return here. But I am a good sailor and would not mind living indefinitely on an ocean liner."

But I am a good sailor and would not mind living indefinitely on an ocean liner."

The labor newspapers propose to urge the workmen of the British Isles to resist it.

The militant suffragettes again complain that the government discriminates against them and the Women's Social and Political Union.

They point out that Sir Edward Carson has gone to Belfast to open the new hall of the Drilling Club there, the object of which is to resist home rule if it should be established and they ask why Sir Edward is permitted to advocate rebellion whereas they are imprisoned for doing so.

This week's number of the Suffragette appeared today and was freely circulated. It was printed by the firm of Edward Francis. The newspaper says:

"Though he has constantly depreciated what he calls our methods, he has undertaken the work believing that the freedom of the press was in danger and also gravely doubting the wisdom of those who seem bent on depriving the suffragettes of their legitimate forms of expression."

The central tune of the newspaper is much milder than it was before the raid on the militant suffragettes' headquarters and printing office.

LABOR SITUATION IN EASTERN CITIES

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Allied Printing Trades council of Greater New York has made no protest against the appointment of Walter H. Page as ambassador to Great Britain, reports from London to the contrary notwithstanding, according to a statement issued today by Thomas J. Carroll, president of the New York organization.

"No man with authority to utter a word for the council has communicated with the London council," he said. "If we had wanted to protest we should have gone to President Wilson or to Mr. Page himself."

ALBANY, N. Y., May 14.—John Mitchell, formerly vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, took oath today as state labor commissioner at $3,000 a year as a recess appointee.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 16.—Refusing a writ of habeas corpus to Fritz Herrick, Socialist editor imprisoned by order of Gov. Henry D. Hatfield for alleged inflammatory articles against the military and other state authorities in connection with the West Virginia coal strike, Judge Samuel Littlepage of the circuit court upheld today the right of the governor to arrest and detain persons under procedure of martial law.

NEW YORK, May 16.—An appeal against violence was the notable feature of Joseph J. Brown's speech to an open-air meeting of several thousand barbers today. Nearly 12,000 men marched in a procession in which the banner of the Industrial Workers of the World was prominently displayed, from far up town to Union square, where the meeting was held.

PATERSON, N. J., May 16.—There were reports throughout the silk manufacturing district that a break has occurred in the ranks of the strikers. Many of the English-speaking operatives will return to work, it is said, on Monday.

After a day of disorder, in which the porch of a silk worker's home was blown up by a bomb, the strike situation was quiet tonight.

MRS. DIETZ HELD FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND

CHICAGO, May 16.—Mrs. Augusta Dietz was held today by a coroner's jury to be responsible for or to have guilty knowledge of the death of her husband, George H. Dietz, a fashionable women's tailor, who was found dead April 14.

George Nurnberg, a friend of both Mr. and Mrs. Dietz, was exonerated.

GOV. HUNT'S PENAL CODE BILL VETOED

Will Wreck Democratic Party in State, He Declares, As a Warning

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 16.—The Arizona legislature passed the penal code bill over the governor's veto today. In the senate the vote was 13 to 1, and in the house, 25 to 5. Several members explained that they voted to override the veto with the distinct understanding that a referendum would be in order against the action depriving the governor of his pardoning and reprieving power, which had caused the veto.

In his message vetoing the penal code, Governor Hunt vigorously denounced his opponents within the Democratic party whom he designated as the "force of reaction." Since his inauguration, declared the message, he had been made the victim of petty reprisals, chiefly because of his prison reform ideas. He predicted that if his enemies were victorious, the Democratic party in Arizona would be "wrecked on the rocks of reaction."

looked to the state for protection. Quiet prevailed at the mines tonight. Citizens informed the sheriff tonight, he declared, that townspeople, as well as strikers, participated in recent disturbances. The presence of armed deputies was resented, the sheriff said, and was assured that their withdrawal would mark the end of disorder.

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 16.—The presence of private detectives and deputy sheriffs, patrolling the tracks of the Erie railroad tonight, disclosed another attempted train wreck. Rocks piled three feet high were discovered on the rails near a bridge at Lodi. The engineer of the Buffalo Express stopped his train so suddenly that passengers were jolted from their seats. The locomotive stopped a few feet short of the obstruction.

Railroad officials said they knew no reason for the attempt, the fourth within six days, to wreck an Erie train in northern New Jersey.

UNITED BRETHREN MAY JOIN THE METHODISTS

DECATUR, Ill., May 16.—It practically was decided today that the general conference of the Church of United Brethren in Christ will vote to submit to the members of the church, not later than November, 1913, the proposition of a union of the United Brethren with the Methodist Protestants. The committee of union chosen at the general conference four years ago submitted a report today supporting the union and setting forth that the name of the united church should be the United Protestant church.

FAMOUS CIVIL WAR VET TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Casper Nobel, said to be the last surviving member of the band of Union cavalrymen which captured Jefferson Davis, president of the "Confederacy," attempted to commit suicide at his boarding house here today by inhaling gas. He was discovered unconscious, the gold medal awarded by congress clasped in his hand. He was removed to a hospital, where the physicians hope he will recover.

For Bright Eyes and Clear Nose

Remarkable Catarrh Cure That Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gatherings.

S. S. S. is a Wonder for the Eyes, Nose and Throat.

It is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antitoxin remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or, as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, through all the veins and arteries, and enables all mucous surfaces to exchange indurated acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectively cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils, and all other diseased conditions of the blood. For special advice or any blood disease write in confidence to The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. of your druggist.

PRINCESS INDIRA.

The marriage of Princess Indira of Bombay, India, daughter of the Gaekwar of Nioroda, to Prince Bhenbra, son of the Maharajah Cooch Behar, which was to have taken place on May 5, has been broken off by the prince, and she and her father have sailed for England. Elaborate preparations had been made for the wedding, which would have been the greatest Indian wedding of the year.

MAN, 75, ASSAULTS ANOTHER IN HOME

William Hastings, Brother of Late Governor of Pennsylvania, Shoots Relative

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 16.—William Hastings, a brother of the late Gov. Daniel H. Hastings, made a murderous attack tonight on Ross A. Hickok, husband of the former governor's daughter, at Mr. Hickok's residence in this city.

Seven shots were fired at Hickok by Hastings from an automatic revolver in a hand-to-hand struggle in the hallway of the Hickok residence. Only one bullet took effect. The wound is believed to be not serious.

Hastings was arrested after a desperate struggle with the police, in which a score of shots were exchanged. Hastings himself received a bullet wound in his right arm.

Years ago Hastings, who is 75 years old, gained notoriety by public attacks on his brother, the governor, whom he accused of having deprived him of his share of money belonging to the family.

Ordered From Home.

We went to the Hickok home and demanded to see Mr. Hickok. When the latter ordered him from the house, Hastings drew a revolver and began firing. Hickok, who is of athletic build, hurled him through the door. Hastings began firing again, sending four bullets through the door, one of which struck Hickok above the right hip.

Hastings then hurried away. The police were notified and half a dozen gave chase. When overtaken he opened fire on the police. A fusillade followed, during which Hastings emptied three revolvers. When a policeman's bullet broke his arm, he was overpowered. During the melee, Louise Kniesly, aged 3, who was standing near, was shot in the leg. Hastings was taken to the county jail. His mind is believed to be unbalanced.

Ross Hickok, who is secretary of the Hickok Manufacturing company, was a prominent athlete in Yale from which he graduated in 1897. He was a star hammer thrower and at one time held the intercollegiate record. He also was a member of the varsity football team.

After being committed to prison, Hastings declared he had not meant to kill Hickok, but "merely to scare him."

A charge of felonious assault has been preferred against him.

ARIZONA OBJECTS TO WITHHOLDING PATENTS

TUCSON, Ariz., May 16.—The recommendation of Secretary of State Bryan to Secretary of the Interior Lane, that patents to lands in the basin of the Colorado river and its tributaries be withheld pending the conclusion of treaties between the United States and Mexico, over the waters of the Colorado, has aroused protest throughout southern Arizona.

City and county officials and commercial bodies have sent to the Arizona senators in Washington voluminous objections to the carrying out of Secretary Bryan's suggestion.

They declare such a course would entail great loss to the thousands of homesteaders throughout Arizona and retard the development of millions of acres of land.

FRANCE REFUSES TO GIVE UP CHRISTABEL PANKHURST

LONDON, May 17.—The Standard says that although France has refused the request of Great Britain for the extradition of Christabel Pankhurst because of "insufficient grounds," further representations for her return to England have been made. These point out that Miss Pankhurst is charged with incitement to crime outside the political sphere. To these representations, the Standard says, no reply has been made.

STREET CAR STRIKE SITUATION IMPROVED

CINCINNATI, May 16.—Street car service in this city was somewhat more extended today when the Cincinnati Traction company began operation of three additional lines with the one line which was run yesterday. Thirty-seven cars were being operated over the four routes and there were no signs of violence.

It was openly stated by the company officials that they would attempt to operate at least one-third of their regular lines by tomorrow.

The strikers appeared to content themselves with monster parades through the streets and a mass meeting at the Cincinnati baseball park.

The parade was the largest labor gathering that Cincinnati has seen and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Rioting was resumed shortly after noon when a Clinton line car was attacked by strike sympathizers at Fifth and Walnut streets and for 15 minutes rocks, bricks and other missiles were hurled through the car.

The company's employees who were riding in the car were rescued by the police and hustled out of the neighborhood. After reinforcements arrived the police were able to control the situation. Ten arrests were made.

CAN BE AVOIDED

You cannot afford to neglect the slightest kidney ailment—it's hazardous to do so. The poisonous waste material must be separated from the blood and if the kidneys become weakened this is impossible. That means a poisoned system. That's why neglect means trouble—the ailment becomes chronic and results in Rheumatism or Bright's Disease.

COLORADO COLLEGE WINS DUAL MEET FROM BOULDER BY SCORE OF 64 1-2 TO 55 1-2

First Defeat for U. of C. by Any State Track Team; Two Collegiate Records Broken

Athletic history was made at Washburn field yesterday afternoon when Colorado college defeated the University of Colorado 64 1/2 to 55 1/2 in a dual track meet. It was the first defeat administered to a Boulder track team by any state institution since the university first took an active part in athletics fifteen years ago, and with a single exception the first time Boulder has been defeated in this branch of sport within that period of time. Leland Stanford winning a dual meet several years ago.

Doped on paper to win from their old rivals yesterday—as has been done for many years past—the showing of the Tigers was nevertheless a pleasant surprise to those who have followed the work of the track squad this spring. Figured out with pencil and paper Colorado college looked like a winner by about 10 points, and in actual competition she won by nine.

Two state collegiate records were broken. Davis in the pole vault, and the Boulder relay team in the mile run, but it is a question whether the mark set by Davis will be recognized by the A. A. U. The time in the 220-yard hurdles was also a fifth of a second under the state mark, but no record will be claimed or considered in view of a stiff wind that blew at the runners' backs.

Davis, the Monte Vista youth, who is the nearest approach to Vandenberg as an all-round athlete at Colorado college this year was a most consistent performer yesterday, and the pole he cleared for the first time, first and second, went a long way toward making victory possible for his team. He captured first place in the pole vault, clearing 11 feet one inch when Donovan failed, and then the bar was raised to 11 feet three inches. His first attempt at this height failed, but he cleared in by inches on his second effort. It was half an inch better than the state collegiate record, but in view of former rulings by the A. A. U. in similar cases, it is thought doubtful that Davis will be given a state record.

In the mile relay, Boulder's team, made up of Clark, Warner, Cline and Ivers, negotiated the distance in 3:31.4, which, it is declared, beats the former best mark by five seconds.

For Colorado college, Davis scored the highest number of points individually, with a total of 16, while Ireland was high man for Boulder, with 13. Balch proved a life-saver in the broad jump at a time when Boulder was in the lead by three points, and when it looked as though Ivers of the university would take first place in that event.

The broad jump was over, with the exception of Balch's final effort, and Ivers had the Tiger beaten by nearly a foot. Balch measured up to the take-off perfectly and landed in a heap 21 feet out, beating Ivers' mark by four inches and winning first place for Colorado college.

And thus the meet progressed during the three-hour contest, for a time Colorado college was in the lead, then Boulder crept up, and tied the Tigers and then crept ahead momentarily. But Boulder leadership was short-lived, and when Davis took first place in the pole vault, there was no chance for the university to win, even though the relay was conceded to them.

Boulder went down to her first defeat fighting and snarling, and there wasn't a point in rules, regulations and ethics that Coach McCadden did not protest where there was any chance for the registration of a kick to produce results. It can be said of Boulder that she never gives up where there is the remotest chance to win, and yesterday was no exception.

A protest gave Boulder time, and one-half points in the race—second by several inches, according to the decision of J. W. Park and Guy Clark, two of the three judges. The Tiger fierdived across the line ahead of Cline, but McCadden claimed second for his man, and when he protested to Referee Test of the Mines, the latter swept aside the verdict of his two judges and ruled that the second place points be split equally between Cheese and Cline—Summary.

100-yard dash—Cline, C. U. first; Ireland, C. U. second. Time, 10:2.5.

220-yard dash—Ireland, C. U. first; Cheese, C. C. second. Time, 2:22.5.

DU CRAY AND DELIVUK WILL WRESTLE MAY 21

The date for the wrestling match between Frank DuCray, Colorado champion, and Charles Delivuk, Kansas title holder, was last night set for Wednesday night, May 21, and the bout will be staged in the Opera house.

Both DuCray, who is now a resident of the Springs, and Delivuk, have been in training for the match for the last three weeks, and with the exception of the date the terms of their contest were agreed upon some time ago.

Then both have been getting in shape for what promises to be a top-notch bout from the tap of the gong. Delivuk will reach here tomorrow from Kansas City, and writes that he is in the best of shape for a long and hard tussle.

DuCray and the Austrian have not met since their scrap in Grand Junction, a year ago, which was won by DuCray, but which Delivuk claims was decided unfairly in favor of the Colorado champion. With the tie hold having been there to every reason to predict an evenly matched contest, and one that will bring out all the finer points of the wrestling game.

Gibbons Brothers Win Double Header

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Gibbons brothers, Mike and Tom, St. Paul mid-liveries, outpointed Jack McCarron of Philadelphia and Young Mike Donovan of this city, respectively in 10-round bouts, at the Madison Square Athletic club, tonight.

Mike, at no time gave McCarron a chance, as he kept up a continuous jabbing with his left, crossing his right occasionally, and with clever sidestepping and blocking made McCarron look like a novice. McCarron displayed gameness, but the best he could send back was an occasional body blow at close quarters. Toward the end of the bout he reached Mike's face a dozen times, with fists and legs, which did little or no damage.

In the other bout Tom Gibbons had the better of Donovan in every round save one, which was even. Donovan was outclassed and outfought.

RUBE WADDELL GOES TO NORTHERN LEAGUE

MINNEAPOLIS, May 16.—Rube Waddell, who recently announced that he was through with organized baseball, has reconsidered his determination and will play with the Virginia team of the Northern league. He has been released to the latter club by Manager Cantillon of the Minneapolis American association club. Waddell, who has been seriously ill from a bruise received on the ball ground, received word today to join the Virginia team at Duluth.

BOULDER 3; MINES 4
GOLDEN, Colo., May 16.—University of Colorado, 3; Colorado School of Mines, 4.

TIGER-AGGIES AT WASHBURN FIELD TODAY

Fresh from yesterday's victory over Boulder in the dual track and field meet, Colorado college will have lots of ginger this afternoon when the Tiger baseball team meets the fast aggregation from the State Agricultural college. The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock at Washburn field.

To all advance indications, the Tigers' battle is on tap for today. Jackson, the star college flinger, opposing Tucker of the Aggies, also regarded as one of the best college boxmen in the state this season. It was Tucker's high class work largely that enabled the Aggies to beat the strong University of Utah team three weeks ago and later on Denver university, and at Fort Collins the opinion prevails that Tucker is just the boy to take the Tigers into camp.

With the possible exception of Boulder, the Aggies are the bitter rivals of Colorado college, the feeling against the local institution running strong since last year's unexpected defeat on the gridiron, and today's game is accordingly expected to bring out all the fighting qualities of the two teams. The Tigers have shown up exceptionally well this week in practice, and with Jackson right the Aggies will have a hard battle to win today.

England's Champion Smothers Redmond

WINNIPEG, Man., May 16.—Freddie Welsh, English middleweight champion, all but knocked out Jack Redmond of St. Paul, in a lively 12-round bout here tonight. Welsh forced the fighting in every round, and won all the way.

Redmond took a great amount of punishment, being forced to hold on in the last round to escape a knockout. Welsh showed great speed and had Redmond baffled at every turn. With the clever footwork exhibited by Welsh, the St. Paul boxer never had a chance, and served as a punching bag from the first round to the last, which was lightning fast, with Welsh working at top speed to score a knockout.

KARTYE BEATS IRSLINGER

GOLDEN, Utah, May 16.—Ernest Kartye of Chicago tonight defeated Henry Irslinger, champion, middleweight wrestler of Europe, in two straight falls. The first was secured in 15 minutes and the second in seven minutes. Mike Yokel, champion of the world, has agreed to meet Kartye for the title.

STENGEL, A REAL PHENOM

Other chiefs of a big league team in the last few years. There is Nap Rucker for instance, the equal of any left-hander in the business. There is Daubert, the big first baseman, regarded as the equal of Hal Chase. Some, however, though, Ebbs can't win a pennant.

The reason is plain. Brooklyn fans declare, "While he has the faculty of finding great players he won't pay them good salaries. A young fellow who has proved he is worth $4,000 a year becomes discouraged if he fails to get more than $1,500. Then he will quit trying to be a star. After a couple of years of this kind of treatment the manager to whom Ebbs may sell the player finds it impossible to restore the man to his former standard."

LOCAL GOLF CLUBS HAVE HANDICAP MATCHES TODAY

The golf season at the Cheyenne Mountain Country club will be opened officially today with a bogey handicap tournament, and a large entry list is expected. Decoration day, May 30, there will be a team match here between the Colorado Springs Golf club and the Country club on the Broadmoor grounds. The course is in excellent condition for today's program.

An 18-hole handicap sweepstakes tourney is scheduled for the Colorado Springs Golf club this afternoon. Entrants should telephone their names to W. W. Campbell at the club by noon, and with favorable weather an entry list of about 30 will complete.

The course is in fine condition; the fair greens have been clipped and rolled, and the temporary putting greens are in better shape than two weeks ago.

MULLIN, DETROIT STAR, BOUGHT BY NATIONALS

DETROIT, May 16.—Pitcher George Mullin, in point of service the oldest member of the Detroit baseball club, was sold tonight to the Washington Americans for $2,000.

Mullin joined the Tigers in 1902 and three times helped to pitch Detroit into American league championships. His showing this spring has not been satisfactory to Manager Jennings.

Mullin said he was glad to have a change of scene and declared he still could pitch as good ball as ever.

CLEVELAND, May 16.—Pitching Gregg hard, Phillies' pitcher overcame Cleveland's early lead and won today's game, 5 to 1. On four hits and a double throw, Cleveland scored three runs in the first inning and Brooklyn took the lead in the second. After Philadelphia had taken the lead, the Phillies opened the sixth inning with a double and two singles, which scored two runs. Mitchell, their regular pitcher, threw and allowed but one hit thereafter. In the seventh Cleveland filled the bases with a single, but all the runners were caught off bases by a triple play in which most of the Philadelphia team participated.

DETROIT, 5; WASHINGTON, 3.

DETROIT, May 16.—Detroit did not waste a base hit today, and defeated Washington, 5 to 3. The locals hit safely in but three innings. Washington took the lead the first inning and held it until the sixth, when singles by Dubuc, Loudon and Crawford, and a split pitch to Hughes enabled Detroit to score the winning run.

Morgan brought in both of Washington's tallies. An error, a base on balls and two hits enabled him to score in the first. In the third he walked, went on to third on Williams' single, and came home on an infield out.

Morgan was passed three times in the game. Singles by Vitt and Crawford, and Cobb's sacrifice fly, resulted in Detroit's first run in the eighth. Drobach was sent in to pitch for Hughes, for whom Gandil batted in the eighth. Drobach struck out (Loudon) but Dubuc drove the ball over the second base for a home run, and Loudon, Vitt and Crawford singled successively. Bush was put out of the game in the first inning by umpire McGreevey for dissenting a decision. Loudon, who had replaced him, started at the bat and in the field.

HARVARD PICKED TO WIN TRACK MEET FROM YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 16.—Yale and Harvard will hold their annual track meet on Yale field tomorrow afternoon with the "Gulls" favoring the Crimson. Harvard has beaten Cornell on the track this year and Yale has beaten Princeton, but the Cambridge team is believed to be more evenly balanced. The Blue has a number of individual stars, but is not strong on second and third point men.

An analysis of the records of the athletes on both teams shows that Harvard apparently has the advantage in hurdlers, distance runners and weight men, while Yale is strong in sprinters, jumpers and pole vaulters. Yale is pinning considerable faith on Captain Wagner in the pole vault and expects to take first and second places in this event.

PLAY IN THE PARKS

YESTERDAY afternoon the children of the Bristol School gave a series of folk dances in Monument Valley Park which attracted nearly 500 spectators. The affair was held under the trees in a large open space in the south end of the park. This is the first time that anything of the sort has been done in Colorado Springs, except by the College, and it suggests the possibility of the general use of the parks by the school children for this and like purposes. A year ago the Park Board gave the boys of the Bristol School the privilege of establishing a ball grounds in the large open tract just south of the lower lake, and the spot has since been immensely popular. Monument Valley Park ought to be the most frequented place in the city, both because of its central location and its attractiveness. North Park is the proper place for band concerts and is a useful resting spot, but it is too small for general park purposes. But Monument Valley Park is easily accessible to the people of all parts of the city, and its large open spaces are well adapted to use as playgrounds. The Park Commissioners are glad to encourage its widest possible use by the public, and it is already arranged that the playground, which is to be established with the fund now being raised by subscription, is to be located there.

And it is gratifying to note that this movement is to be altogether successful. Nearly one-half of the fund is already subscribed. The sum needed, $1,200, will be enough to pay the salary of a supervisor for the three summer months and buy swings, horizontal bars, rockers and other equipment which can be used for years to come.

There is no question as to the need of a properly conducted public playground. They have been installed in dozens of cities throughout the country and everywhere have proven of great value in providing the children with opportunities for healthful play under wholesome conditions. Colorado Springs ought to have three or four such playgrounds, and it is a safe prediction that the success of the one soon to be installed will lead to early provision for others.

THE SUMMER CARNIVAL

THE summer carnivals held in Colorado Springs in 1911 and 1912 were notably successful in two important respects. They provided additional entertainment for the visitors and they aroused the civic pride and public spirit of our own people. Anything that accomplishes these results should be made a permanent feature.

And the Colorado Springs Summer Carnival is a permanent feature. The Advertising Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, under whose supervision these affairs have been given, has been at work for several weeks on the general arrangements for the forthcoming festival. The original idea of those who started the movement two years ago was to hit upon something distinctively western which could be repeated in a slightly different form year after year until it would become identified in the public mind with Colorado Springs, as Frontier Day is identified with Cheyenne. This is why Indians were secured for both of the other carnivals, and this year the western idea is to be emphasized more strongly than ever.

A big Indian and cowboy camp will be made in the Garden of the Gods at a point easily accessible, and a number of picturesque features are planned which will prove a revelation not only to eastern visitors but to our own people. Of course this does not mean that the Carnival will be held entirely in the Garden of the Gods, for the necessary arrangements will be made to provide amusement for the downtown crowd, but the central idea of the plan is a real Indian show in the greatest of all Indian camping grounds.

Colorado Springs will be a hot place throughout the coming summer, for it is to entertain a number of large conventions and there are indications of an unusually heavy tourist business. Every additional means of entertaining the visitors will be of advantage, for it induces them to prolong their stay in the Pikes Peak Region. The summer carnival has already fully demonstrated its value, and the committee should have the enthusiastic support of the entire community in its efforts to make it an unbounded success.

LUXURIES AND PROSPERITY

THE tradition that a presidential campaign year always means dull business, and that a pending revision of the tariff is similarly disastrous, has been rudely upset within the last several months. The campaign of 1912 produced hardly a ripple on the swelling tide of national prosperity, and business generally does not appear to be seriously disturbed over the imminent adoption of a tariff law which will be a radical departure from the present measure.

The volume of imports of the articles classed as luxuries is a fair measure of the country's prosperity, for people do not buy these things in hard times. Luxuries, as defined by the Department of Commerce, are art works, precious stones, furs, feathers, perfumeries, cigars, wines and the like, and a report just published shows a very large increase in the value of such goods imported during the nine months ending last March, as compared with the same period of the previous year.

Art works amount to $50,000,000 as compared with less than $30,000,000 for the corresponding months of last year, and about $20,000,000 in the same months of 1911 and 1910. This is a new high water mark. Importations of diamonds and other precious stones amounted to about $35,000,000 this year, as against $30,000,000 in each of the two preceding years. This total has been exceeded only in 1910.

Laces, embroideries and other articles of this class show a total for the nine months of $36,000,000, slightly less than for the corresponding period of 1912, but more than in 1911. Imported wines amount to about $7,500,000, an increase of a half million dollars. Imports of feathers have jumped from $6,250,000 last year to $9,500,000.

The most striking evidence of the country's prosperity or extravagance, whichever it may be, is shown in a comparison of the figures for this year with those of 1900. Twelve years ago importations of precious stones amounted to only $11,000,000, as compared with $35,000,000 this year. In the same period importations of laces and embroideries have doubled in value. Apparently everybody is making money and spending it in characteristic American fashion that is, without a thought of tomorrow.

FROM OTHER PENS

THE AMAZING BLEASE
From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

It was thought when Governor Blease of South Carolina announced his intention to pardon Lincoln that he had reached the limit of executive clemency. But he has set a new mark in gubernatorial leniency in his proclamation of $500 reward for the body of a negro murderer. Just so there is enough of it to be recognized. If this means anything it must mean the governor's invitation to the teachers to wreak their fury upon the victim in any manner they may devise, the stake being most clearly indicated.

The only conceivable motive actuating the governor in these proclamations, short of irresponsibility, is that he hopes to terrorize the negro population. The evident failure of his proclamation of pardon for lynching has taught him nothing. His answer to this invitation to mob brutality. The inevitable effect of such a course must be just the opposite, to breed hatred, despair and disorder. But appeal reason is lost on a character like his. All he seems capable of is blind fury, a wild swinging of brandished arms that is more likely to injure friend than foe. South Carolina might be entitled to sympathy if when it had the chance it had not voted for a fresh infusion of Bleasism. It will be fortunate if solving the wind it does not reap the whirlwind.

PRESIDENTIAL POPULARITY

From the Washington Star.

President Wilson is destined to become one of the most popular chief executives in history, that is to say, with the local community. Washington is well used to presidents and yet it is always glad to see them out of official harness. There have been some notable instances of this presidential journeying about town. Lincoln was often met in the streets as he strolled about, wearing his old-fashioned stove-pipe hat and occasionally a shawl over his shoulders—for shawls were quite in vogue then in masculine attire. Before him Andrew Jackson, always a commoner, took keen pleasure in his informal communications with the people, and stories are told of his enjoyment of a quiet pipe while sitting on building material and watching some new construction. Then Grant was so freely seen about the streets that he was scarcely noticed by the Washingtonians. President Harrison was a familiar figure, as he was fond of walking, but he was not a good mixer and did not become well acquainted with Washingtonians at large. Grover Cleveland seldom went out upon the streets alone. McKinley was less often seen than his successor, whose energetic "strolls" through the streets and parks of the District became traditional. President Taft was not blessed with a figure suitable for brisk promenading, but he was by no means a stranger to the people of Washington. Indeed, his was a familiar figure in many parts of town. But none of the presidents of the past has come so close to the public as has Woodrow Wilson in the last few days. This fondness for the national game has brought him nearer to the hearts of the people of Washington than the golfing of Mr. Taft and the tennis of Mr. Roosevelt. Having passed only one of the five games played on the public grounds, Mr. Wilson is now regarded as a very able and to be gained admission in the event of the sport when the other day he responded promptly and heartily to an enthusiastic demand that he join the great majority in standing up for back in the seventh inning. A president who goes to ball games and roots for the home team cannot fail to be popular, especially when he shows that he knows the game and appreciates its fine points and modern developments. Mr. Wilson's participation in this form of public diversion in any degree lessens the dignity of the office. Mr. Wilson will be a better president for his communion with the people in their relaxation from the practical cares of life.

HER OWN PARTICULAR FAIRY TALES.

From the New York Tribune.

Each of us has his fairy tale when we are by ourselves. We hide it from strangers. We like to believe that we are rich or good looking or of great eminence. The imprisoned fairy guides our taste, shapes our clothes and makes us sign our names with a flourish.

So declared a distinguished Swiss psychiatrist before a clinic in Johns Hopkins hospital the other day. None of us is very far from the insane, he added. Only our sense of reason that brings us safely back to reality distinguishes us from the cheerful victim of a fixed delusion inhabiting an insane asylum.

Let us not be discouraged and turn our backs upon our fairy tales, however. There is a long, large part of life that these fictions alone can make. Your latest man, the best of the world, the ideal, the perfect, has a greater fairy tale in his mind, not a lesser one, than plain John Smith, who never gets out of the treadmill. The mere dreamer never arrives, to be sure. But that is no reason for overlooking the important fact that a fixed faith in a very handsome fairy tale has gone hand in hand with about every great accomplishment that hard sense and hard work have to their credit.

That is the ideal fighting man, in fact. He has an infinite capacity for hard work, for applying his best ability to the job of the moment. He has also a rare bit of imagined future, as seemingly remote and impossible and absurd as any fairy tale that ever came out of a book.

By all means believe in your fairy tales. Unless you do, how can they ever come true!

THE PERFECT BABY

From the New York Sun.

It is an interesting sociological fact that the "perfect baby" just discovered through the University Settlement's "baby contest" was born and resides in the "forgotten East Side." This infant, rated at the very top on all the 1,000 points which Dr. Holt laid out in the elaborate score card, is no "eugenic" child. He is the son of plain, everyday, ordinary parents, who probably wouldn't know what the word meant.

Abe Edelwitz attained physical perfection in spite of adverse surroundings because his mother had a particular regard for his sleep, physical cleanliness and fresh air supply and heeded doctors' advice to refrain from dosing him with the nostrums which unfortunate childhood usually falls heir to. It seems particularly fortunate that this concrete proof of what the doctors are trying to impress on the mothers of all sections of the city should be found in the congested tenement district.

If the worst section of the city cannot interfere with physical perfection in babyhood, parents of children in more favored neighborhoods surely should not rest content with less than perfect health for their offspring.

WHY TEACHERS, ETC.

From the Chicago Tribune.

One of Lincoln's favorite poems was the "Gettysburg address."

Lincoln used such good English and was so noted for honesty that he became a member of the Illinois legislature.

A circle is a plane bounded by a line having no corners.

A man is a living being that roams about the earth.

A man is a two legged animal that has no feathers.

A man is an animal that knows what he is doing.

A Suggestion for Housewives

By RUTH CAMERON.

If you want to get your home thoroughly in order if you want to finish those curtains which have been banging fire so long, if you want to be sure of getting that table whose marred surface has long been an eyesore to you, repolished at last, in short, if you want a powerful motive that will force you to do and have done within a definite time the innumerable little things about the home which you have been putting off for the last six months, don't just make resolutions about these things—have a party.

Tomorrow is my neighbor's turn to entertain her bridge club. Two weeks ago she solicited advice as to the best shade for a new couch cover.

"Go," said that money-grubbing Uncle John gave me Christmas laid aside to get it," she explained, "and I need it shockingly, but I hate selecting a thing like that and I've been putting it off all this time. Now I suppose I'll have to get it."

Last week she made the new curtains for her bedroom for which she has had the material on hand six months. She also laundered her bedspread, the scarfs on her bureau and dresser and her pin cushion, and had her puffs cleaned. "Such a relief," she sighed as she displayed them. "They've needed it for weeks, but it's one of those little odds jobs that are always being put off."

This week she has had her living room and guest room cleaned. Not just ordinarily cleaned, you understand, but walls and ceiling and windows and broom-brush and magazine-clutter all thoroughly cleaned. Furthermore, she has polished all the silver, and scoured the percolator, the chafing dish and the fire set until you can see your face in any one of them.

These are a few of her visible activities during the past two weeks. Doubtless she also attended to many other little odds jobs which were not made public.

Tired but happy, she surveys her home tonight with an air of approval. "It is a perfect joy to me to see things looking as they should," she says, "and I'm going to try to keep them up."

Of course there are some people who never put off little odds jobs until "some day soon." They don't need any coercion to help them get things done, but for those who are not so exemplary I repeat my suggestion if you want to be sure to do and have done, within a reasonable space of time, the thousand and one things which you have been putting off for the last six months, don't just resolve to "do it now," but send out your invitations for a party.

Ponderous Personages

SAMSON

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Samson, the strongest man in history, was born in the tribe of Dan so long ago that the reporting facilities in his time were very crude and uncertain. He was destined from birth to break all the strength test records in his tribe and he grew up from babyhood without punishment. At an early age he married a daughter of the Philistines. Little is known of their domestic career except that soon after wards Samson went out and killed 30 Philistines single-handed, though they were not even remotely related to his wife.

This caused some indication among the Philistines and it was voted to kill Samson. Just for this Samson caught

"One day they led him out to make fun of him at their national convention."

300 foxes, tied them together by the tails with firebrands between and set them loose in the Philistines' wheat fields. To punish him, his own people turned him over to the Philistines. However, he slew 1,000 of them with the jawbone of an ass, which remained an international record until people began making speeches recently against child labor and pure food and drug laws.

At this time Samson had become such a pest to the Philistines that they let him severely alone and took a policy box whenever they could to discourage him from associating with them. Samson served as one of the judges of Israel for 20 years, never indulging in a hair cut and becoming stronger all the time. When they shut the gates of Gaza on him and prepared to exterminate him, he took the gates off their hinges and carried them 20 miles—the earliest instance of Halloween pranks on record.

About this time Samson met with Delilah, a beautiful daughter of a Philistine, and a love affair ensued which caused a great deal of remark. Delilah loved Samson, but objected to his appearing as a human mattress, and one night she sheared his hair off. Then she called in her relatives to admire him, and when Samson arose to knock their heads together he found that his strength had departed with his hair.

After this the Philistines took Samson and put out his eyes, harnessed him up to a corn mill and treated him like a Democratic majority comforting the Republican party. Samson was a slave for many years, and in time his captors, who were recognized by denying him a barber. One day they led him out to make fun at him at their national convention, and Samson, who was now quite shaggy, pulled the great pillars of the hall out from under the roof and died happily amid the general ruin.

The moral of Samson's life has been written often, but the sad lack of such a man with such a firm development is every day evident in this country. If Samson could pull up a few tracks in front of the street cars which try to run past him and could arrange to have himself assaulted by a few working gangs in a New York municipal election, the results would be a great blessing to the country.

NOW HAVE PERFECTED

THEIR ORGANIZATION

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 18.—Plans for the organization of the insurgent Modern Woodmen of America were perfected at today's convention when the report was adopted recommending that one member from each state be elected to the national convention to be known as the "National Modern Woodmen of America Federation."

This committee will work out a platform and carry on the plans outlined by the convention.

The convention adopted resolutions demanding the restoration of representative government in the order, demanding the removal of the present head officers and the investigation of all of their financial transactions and an investigation of the sanatorium in Colorado, for the adoption of by-laws limiting the terms of office to two years; the repeal of the new rates; demanding a referendum vote before any change in rates is made; demanding the repeal of the Mobile law in the states in which it is in force and making other recommendations.

Secretary Daniels is well known, looks with extreme disfavor on the retirement of young officers before they have made through service some returns for the education and training received at the hands of the government.

Under the new "plucking" system, by which senior officers will be in retirement much more rapidly than in the past the junior officers will have less complaint on account of slowness of promotion.

Weather Foreman

Reduced in Rank

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Charles T. Burns, an assistant foreman in the weather bureau, suspended at the time of the dismissal of Chief Willis L. Moore, today was reduced in rank and salary by Secretary Houston, on the ground of "guilt of misconduct in performance of his duty."

Moore was dismissed for "serious irregularities" and misuse of office, of which it was alleged he had been guilty in his campaign for appointment as secretary of agriculture in President Wilson's cabinet.

The case was referred to the department of justice for investigation. Burns was charged with complicity.

Professor Oliver L. Tassig against whom charges were preferred by Moore was acquitted of all except one—that of making a false statement regarding an item of expense amounting to $6.65. No action was taken in his case. Tassig contended Moore made the charges because he refused to support his candidacy for secretary of agriculture.

Secretary Houston's official investigation shows that on December 13, 1912, Burns recommended that an inspection of weather bureau printing plants in various cities was necessary in the interest of economy and efficiency. Whereas the trip was planned by Moore for the primary purpose of promoting his candidacy for appointment as secretary of agriculture and not for the promotion of economical or efficient administration of the bureau.

GOES TO HIS DEATH

Protesting Innocence

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 16.—Demecio Delgadillo, 28 years old, a native of Chihuahua, Mexico, was hanged in the Bernalillo county jail this morning for the murder of Mrs. Soledad Zambrano, 40, who was shot in the back of the head on September 21, 1912.

Delgadillo protested his innocence as he walked to the scaffold. The trap was sprung at 6:09, and life was pronounced extinct by physicians 15 minutes and 30 seconds later. The neck was broken instantly by the fall. He met death coolly and as the noose was adjusted about his neck said he had no final statement to make.

Delgadillo protested his innocence as circumstantial evidence and his case was not taken to the supreme court. Governor McDonald refused to commute the death penalty to life imprisonment, although petitioned by many to do so.

HERMANN RIDDER DECLINES TO ACCEPT GOV. SULZER JOB

ALBANY, N. Y., May 18.—Hermann Ridder of New York announced that he would not accept the position of superintendent of state prisons to which he was appointed recently by Governor Sulzer.

HERMAN RIDDER.

Herman Ridder of New York, publisher of the Staats Zeitung, has not definitely decided to accept the position of state superintendent of prisons, to which he was nominated by Governor Sulzer and confirmed by the senate.

The former incumbent of the position was Col. Joseph F. Scott, who lost the place through his connection with the Thaw bribery case, recently.

Mr. Ridder has said that he has no idea of taking the place, but that he will give it serious consideration, and make a decision after consulting the governor regarding it.

WHEN THE DREAM CAME TRUE

International Sunday School Lesson for May 18 Is "Joseph Meets
His Brothers." Gen. 42.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

The way a person uses power gives one a fair idea of his character. Part of the "servant problem" is clearly due to the fact that many mistresses are not fit to be employed. Many mistresses know the petty tyrannies of the first man who has not the temperance that should go with authority. Some school teachers are bullies. There are parents, unworship to be much, who browbeat and terrorize their children. Occasionally an editor or writer uses his power over the public print to "get even" with his personal enemies. There are public officials without a public mind who pursue private vengeance through their office. The magnanimity or meanness, the greatness or pettiness of a character is revealed by its use of authority.

When a man gets the upper hand, how shall he use it? The story of Joseph makes answer. The incident has a practical and present bearing, for most of our enemies are at some time or other delivered over into our power. And practically everybody at some time or another has authority over somebody else. There are great truths to be learned by contemplation of the conduct of Joseph, who delivered from prison, sat on a dazzling throne of almost supreme authority.

The Dreamer's Triumph

One personal triumph was not to be denied Joseph in his new estate. When the brothers who had once plotted to slay him came down to Egypt in search of food, and were prostrate on their faces before his judgment seat, his mind went back to the dreams of his boyhood, of the eleven sheaves bowing down to the twelfth, which he had rashly told to these same men. As the narrative has it, "Joseph remembered the dreams which he dreamed of them." He would not have been human had he failed to recall how the wheel of life had turned. God fulfills his promises in his own time and way.

Absolute power over these enemies was in the hands of Joseph. He could put them in jail; he could subject them to the lash; he could send them to death; he could reward them royally. The Arabian Nights has no more dramatic episode. Happily, the story is one of magnanimity tinged with romance. Joseph showed his greatness on this occasion even as he had shown his greatness in Potiphar's house and in prison.

The Land of Refuge

The way this old book called the Bible fits the conditions of the lands about which it writes, is one of the proofs of its genuineness. That the pastoral folk of Canaan should move down to Egypt for help was most natural. I have met modern Syrians on the same errand. Nothing was more natural than that Jacob should send his sons down to Egypt for grain. It had always been, and is still, the birth neighbor of Canaan. The graduates of Syrian Protestant college at Beirut still find their careers in Egypt. Egypt sheltered Abraham; Egypt harbored Joseph; Egypt was a haven for Jacob and his family, and for the Hebrew race in training. Later this same land of refuge gave hospitality to Jacob's greatest son. One's thoughts of Egypt as he looks upon it from afar, or moves about its pyramids and palaces, and marvellous monuments, are tender grateful thoughts.

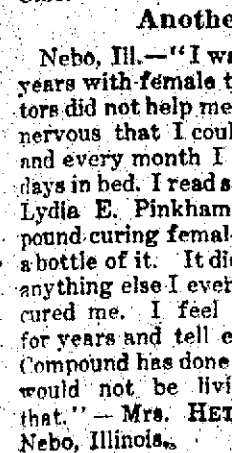

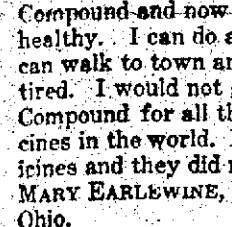

"Conscience Doth Make Cowards." The ten hulking sons of Jacob had not the real manhood qualities of their father. In the emergency which the famine had brought upon the family, they were not the ones who saw the way out, but the old man himself. Threatened with suffering and possible starvation by the

HOW THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

Would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

Utica, Ohio:—"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give your Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."—Mrs. MARY EARLEWINE, R.F.D. No. 3, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.
Nebo, Ill.:—"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now it has cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I will be living to-day but for that."—Mrs. HETTIE GREENSTREET, Nebo, Illinois.

famine in Canaan, Jacob bade his sons go down to Egypt to buy grain. They were coming to that pass when all their possessions were worth nothing except as they might purchase food. I have seen famine victims sell their furniture, their clothes, and even the timbers of their houses, all for a little food.

The sons were started at the suggestion that they should go to Egypt. Somewhere in that land was their brother, now a slave if he had not died in the land. The Hebrews, XII, was a haunting spectre. They demurred against going to Egypt for their father, but the whole land with wronged Joseph. Thus does every evil dead rise up to limits and frighten us, halting us in the hour of duty and of opportunity.

These men knew nothing of the facts concerning their brother. Their father had been a stagnant life; they had stood still, according to their characters, even as Joseph had built up, thought by thought and deed by deed, the great personality which now governed the largest empire of the time. They never dreamed in their wildest flights of fear or fancy that their enslaved brother had been growing all the while they had been rusticated. It is very hard for the stay-at-home villager to believe in the greatness of his playmate who has gone out into the big world. It was not fear of Joseph, but merely the cowardice of a guilty conscience that made the brothers reluctant to go to Egypt, even as the bad boy is afraid to go to bed in the dark.

The Dramatic Meeting

One of the greatest pictures of literature is this of the ten brothers before Joseph, supplanting him for food. The careful system of espionage which prevailed in Egypt, and still exists in some oriental lands, had brought news to the government of this detachment of ten men from the region toward which Egypt was ever looking for an enemy. Joseph had the ten shepherds, clad in their camel's hair cloaks, prostrated themselves on the ground before this great ruler even as it is done today. They did not recognize their brother Joseph, for the youth of 18 had become a man of 35; the 20 years had wrought changes in his face, as well as in his fortune. Besides he wore the headpiece of a ruler and was clothed in the garments of state.

It was from this episode that President Wilson drew the figure of speech which he used in his inaugural address: "The feelings with which we face this new age of life and opportunity sweep across our heartstrings like some air out of God's own presence, where justice and mercy are reconciled, and the judge and the brother are one."

These supplicants saw Joseph only as judge; they did not realize that his heart was that of a brother.

SHALL WE "GET EVEN?"

By all oriental usages, Joseph should have wrought terrible vengeance upon the men who had betrayed him. He had despotic power. It was the way of rulers to punish and even to torture enemies who had fallen into their hands. When the Chinese provincial assembly gathered in Nanking, after the victory of the revolutionaries, the question arose as to how the Manchus, who had slaughtered 30,000 Christians, should be punished. The Christians in the assembly insisted that reprisals were wrong. They contended for, and carried, the Christian doctrine of forgiveness.

The greatest thing that a man can do to an enemy—greater for the man himself, even more than for the enemy—is to have mercy upon him. The ability to forgive is the sign either of an utterly weak character or a really great character. The ordinary mind of small caliber frets and nags and seeks reprisal. The doctrine of forgiveness taught by Jesus were practiced by Joseph 2,000 years earlier.

Testing the Tempt

Magnanimity is one thing; guileless folly is quite another. The governor of a certain American state who has been pardoning criminals indiscriminately, is not to be accredited with the compassion of the great, but with the folly of the ignorant and the vicious. It is no mercy to turn loose upon the community an enemy of society. Joseph could not, without examination, let these men go on their way, for the absence of Benjamin from their number raised the question whether they had not made away with Jacob's youngest son, even as they had tried to destroy Joseph. Upon his last meeting with them, these brothers had shown themselves unnatural and murderous-minded men.

So Joseph subjected them to a series of tests. His purpose evidently was to ascertain their real character. Then, too, he wanted to see his brother Benjamin. The instinct of blood are strong. Years do not change them. Benjamin was Joseph's full brother. The ruler could not go to Canaan; perhaps this was his opportunity to have Benjamin come to him.

When he raised difficulties before the visitors and taxed them with being spies, they were filled with sudden remorse. Their thoughts flew back to the brother they had wronged, for thus do our evil deeds rise to accuse us in every crisis. The modern proverb has it: "Be sure your sin will find you out." These men thought that their sin had been found out, but really it had only found them out. A dramatic fact about the whole episode was that Joseph, who had been talking through an interpreter, understood every word that these conscience-smitten men said one to another. He learned all he wanted to know about his family, but he was overcome with a flood of emotion; for Joseph the ruler was first of all Joseph the man.

Food for the Home Folks.

Joseph soon made a plan for sending food in abundance back to the old homestead in Canaan. What a gratification this must have been to the exiled son. Here was compensation for all his years of suffering. The ability to care for his father in his hour of need was the sweetest reward that his exaltation in Egypt had brought him. With generous spirit, perhaps not realizing the perplexity he would cause in the mind of his father, he re-toiled each man's money into the mouth of his sack, along with the grain, and sent the king back to Canaan, with Simeon left as a pledge for the return of Benjamin.

The report to Jacob perplexed and grieved the old man. There is a hint in his exclamation that he suspected or knew the reason for Joseph's disappearance, for he cried to the sons: "Me have ye bereaved of my child; Joseph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take Benjamin away; all these things are upon me."

Jacob had yet to learn the lesson that is set for all of us today, that "God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform."

The teachings is one of long views. Today's disaster may be tomorrow's salvation. Life must be measured in the long. Only the long view sees straight. The breaking up of home ties may be the ultimate salvation of the home. The boxer outbreak in China, which tilted the heart of Christendom with terror, were really the birth-throes of the new nation.

"Behind the dim unknown, Standeth God, within the shadow, Keeping watch above His own."

THE MEASURE OF A MAN

Terse Comments Upon the Uniform Prayer Meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies, Christian Endeavor, etc., for May 16, "The Stature of Christ—Growing Up Into It." Eph. 4:11-16.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Customs vary with place and time. Standards are as variable as people. What is correct in one land is wholly improper in another. Usage, therefore, cannot determine the most important thing, which is character. For the measure of manhood we must have some fixed standard which applies always and everywhere. That standard is Jesus, our Example. He is as adequately a gauge and guide for the Chinese as he is for the Americans. His life is as good a measure for the life of the city man of today as it was for the peasant in Judea 2,000 years ago. To be like Christ—that is the sufficient and absolute test of the stature of Christian life.

Only a great goal calls forth great endeavor. Then fortitude of the Christ ideal is the explanation of the nobility of the Christian life.

It does not greatly matter what else is happening to us in life, if only we are growing like Christ.

All the power of the divine Christ is promised to those who would live his life over again.

Religion is a growth. Nobody becomes a saint overnight. We attain the character of Jesus only by degrees. This is full employ, for time; and all of eternity will be needed in becoming like him; for we shall see him as he is.

In his best-known poem, Sidney Lanier analyzes the characters of the great teachers and leaders of all time. In each there is found some lack of defect, except in the life of Jesus, whom the poet apostrophizes as "The Crystal Christ."

"But Thee, but Thee, O sovereign Seat of time,

But Thee, O poets' Poet, Wisdom's Tongue,

But Thee, O man's best Man, O love's best love,

O perfect life in perfect labor writ, O all men's Comrade, Servant, King, or Priest,

What if, or yet, what mole, what flaw, what lapse,

What least defect or shadow of defect, What rumor, taint or stain, or enemy,

O interference loose, what lack of grace, Even in torture's grasp, or sleep, or death—

Oh, what amiss may I forgive in Thee, Jesus, good Paragon, thou Crystal Christ!"

Every experience in life may be a school for the teaching of Christ-likeness.

Occasionally the physicians report a case of arrested development. The child has failed to grow, in body or in mind. The sadness of it is beyond words. Violent disease or sudden death is less melancholy than this. And in the spiritual realm there are analogous instances. Some Christians simply do not mature. They remain babes to the end. The experience which made them Christian is all the religious experience they ever know. The Bible has opened no new vistas to them. Prayer is no more precious as the years pass. The worship and work and fellowship of the church are no more prized than at first. The deeds of a disciple do not become more natural. In short, there has been no growth. These stunted saints have not matured toward the Christ stature.

We grow like that to which we aspire.

The many-sidedness of Christ reminds us that disciples may be different from one another yet all like unto him.

Helen Knight Wymen has a poem on the many ways in which Christ ministers to his friends:

"What was He, yesterday?"

A friend most dear.

"Then, haste thee to that friend—

Still he is near."

"What was He, yesterday?"

A Staff and Stay.

"Now is the time to lean—

I can hard, today."

"What was He, yesterday?"

My Shepherd, kind!

"Then, follow where He leads,

Pasture to find."

"What was He, yesterday?"

My guiding Light!

"He can illumine the way

No longer bright."

"What was He, yesterday?"

Savior divine!

"Then, lay on Him, today,

All sins of thine."

"And if, today, He fills

Thy every need,

Thou canst forevermore

Trust Him, indeed!"

THE SUPREME COURT BIBLE

From the Christian Herald.

It is a tiny little book, only five and a half inches long, and three and a half inches wide. It is bound in bright red morocco leather, with the word "Bible" printed in diminutive gold letters on the back.

Put one does not see that red morocco cover unless he removes the little black leather slip which protects it.

Long ago, as the little red Bible began to show wear and then the black leather slip was made to protect it—so long ago, in fact, that 15 of those covers, made to protect the venerated little volume, were worn out in the service.

It is without doubt one of the oldest

Bibles, if not the very oldest Bible, connected with the government and is certainly the most historical. It is the book upon which, since 1850, every chief justice, with the single exception of Chief Justice Chase, and every member of the supreme court, has taken the oath of allegiance when accepting his appointment to our highest tribunal.

More than that, every attorney who has practiced before the supreme court

since that date, 1850, has pledged his allegiance over the little volume. All,

with one exception, and that exception was Daniel Webster. It is told even

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, May 16.—Squeezing of shorts in May oats counted against the bears today in all kinds of grain. Net advances were made in wheat, wheat, 3c to 1c, corn, 3c to 5c. Provisions finished 107 1/2c to 1c up.

Renewed complaints of insufficient moisture made oats shorts nervous. Vigorous commission buying attributed to concentrated long interest, however, started a stampede to cover and spread bullish influence to the neighboring pits. May delivery was bid up 1 1/2c, reaching 55 1/2c before holders, were willing to accept profits. Even at that price the sales of May were accompanied by equal sized purchasing of September.

In the wheat crowd, new sellers were scarce. Kansas sent word of chinch bugs threatening and these were less favorable to buyers concerning the crop.

Continued heavy clearing of wheat and flour for the week were the largest since 1902. The total today equalled 335,000 bu. primary receipts of wheat today were 334,000 bu., a year ago 281,000 bu.

Can raised support because of stoppage of offerings from lower.

Provisions averaged lower on account of a liberal run of hogs west. Packers showed long interest, however, steadied the market.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 16.—Dun's Review will start tomorrow.

There is still some abatement of activity due chiefly to anticipated tariff changes, but the volume of transactions in all the leading branches of trade and industry is very large.

Conservation is naturally more pronounced in the industrial and financial east, while in the agricultural west and south there is a marked feeling of confidence based on the splendid crop conditions and the enormous export trade, much of which means large returns to producers in those sections.

The decrease in bank exchanges this week of 18 per cent, as compared with the corresponding week a year ago, was chiefly due to reduced speculative transactions at New York. It is noticeable that in contrast to the falling off in bank clearings, railroad gross earnings continue to expand, the gain in the first week of May being 7.2 per cent.

The opening of lake navigation is helpful to business in the northwest. In most sections active building operations are reported, though in some places these are checked by labor troubles.

The iron and steel mills are busily engaged on old orders, but there has been a decline in new business.

The recession in business in iron and steel, as well as in the textile trades, is remarkably small in view of the conservatism inspired by the pending tariff changes. There is increased steadiness in cotton goods. In leather, and especially in leather, more activity is noted. Copper conditions are satisfactory.

The recent fall of gold has improved the already bright crop prospects. Agricultural exports in April broke all the previous records for the month and during the latest week the total exports were 1,244,000 lbs. New York imports were $18,566,888, nearly equalling the imports and $1,004,202 greater than last year.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 291 against 208 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 48.

Not of the "Vulgar Rich"

William Ziegler Would Just Avoid Shocking Anyone Beyond Being Happy With His Young Wife, the Heir to Baking Powder Millions Has Made No Great Plans to Startle the World

From the Kansas City Star.

Were a great fortune of $20,000,000 suddenly to be thrust upon you what stupendous changes would it cause in your manner and plan of life?

While you are recovering from the shock to your equilibrium in the contemplation of such a question, consider the answer of William Ziegler, Jr., of New York, 21 years old July 2, 1912, who has the $20,000,000.

Of course his ideas may change but right now young Ziegler just wants to draw the cup of happiness with his wife without shocking anyone. Married only since last December and in possession of his fortune since last June, these remarks are not the blarney of a young man who has just become a millionaire but the sane and sensible remarks of a young man who has made no great plans to startle the world.

Issuing Denial Already.

He has already reached the stage of denying that he is doing weird things with his money. For instance, he says:

"I wish to deny the statement that I intend building a $150,000 motor car garage and a $5,000 chicken brooder on my estate at Great Island near Noroton Conn. There is already a garage on my estate that houses my four motor cars. I have planned to build a larger stable for my horses. That is all."

Further details young Ziegler leaves to his secretary who adds: "Mr. Ziegler is having a new motor car built that will be the finest in the world and will cost $30,000. His yacht which is being built at Boston will be ready in June, but there have been no plans made yet for a cruise around the world."

But he has already bought a site in East Seventy-first street costing $300,000 on which he will build a town house that will use up a like sum in its construction. So it appears this young multimillionaire is going at life in very much the conventional way that all big men with money approach it—costly motor cars, a handsome yacht, a beautiful residence and so on.

An Exceptional Young Man.

But only in these conventional details it seems is Ziegler a prototype of the regular man of millions. On the other side of the picture—he doesn't drink, he doesn't gamble and he isn't at all interested in or attracted by life on the Great White Way. He does like golf, tennis and an idle day upon the water. He is very fond of music is something of an amateur composer, knows the principles of law and has obtained the foundation of a solid business education. And besides he is very much in love with his wife, just one year younger than himself. She was Miss Gladys Virginia Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Curry Watson of 122 West One Hundred and Twenty-second street. She is a sensible girl pretty and has dark brown hair. She was educated at a private school in New York and her tastes run rather more to music than to social campaigns.

Ziegler came by his vast fortune through rarest good luck. He is the adopted son of William Ziegler Sr. who built up the immense fortune out of the baking powder business. His death having occurred in 1905, young Ziegler was a boy of 14 at the time of his adopted father's death and did not know until that time that the man he had always regarded as father was only his half-uncle. The boy is the son of George Brandt, who formerly lived in Iowa.

William Ziegler Sr. and his wife lived alone on the estate at Great Island. They had no children of their own and Mr. Ziegler longed for an heir to whom he could leave his vast business interests and in whom the Ziegler family name might be perpetuated. So when his half brother's wife died and left Brandt with a daughter and a little son 7 years old, Mr. Ziegler took the boy with the father's consent. His name was changed from William Conrad Brandt to William Ziegler Jr. and from the day he left his home in Iowa to live at the connecticut place of his foster father and mother he became, in all but blood, the son of the Zieglers.

A Great Change in His Life.

He was a sturdy boy with a large head and a rather serious bearing. And from early boyhood Mr. Ziegler undertook to train and educate him properly to appreciate the responsibilities that would come to him some day in the care and management of the Ziegler millions. His father became "Uncle George" to him and his sister he knew only as "cousin." He romped and played about the grounds of the Ziegler mansion and was far too careless to think of his adoption. To remember his early Iowa home or the mother and father who first knew and cared for him.

Mr. Ziegler's great hobby was polar exploration. He outfitted several expeditions that set out in quest of the North Pole, and he brought up his adopted son to share his ambition to be sponsor for an expedition that would one day plant the Stars and Stripes at the top of the world.

But death overtook Mr. Ziegler before this purpose could be realized and before the boy had grown to manhood. Other hands and other money already had conquered the barren wastes of ice and snow. Mr. Ziegler's will left his $20,000,000 estate to be managed by trustworthy executors until the boy should become of age. He directed that the money should be invested in securities the entire net income of which should be turned over to the boy when he reached his majority. When he becomes 25 he will get one-quarter of the principal another quarter at the age of 30, another at the age of 35 and at 40 he will come into possession of the last remaining quarter of the principal. So well was the estate managed during his minority that the $20,000,000 had grown even greater. So he started life as about the richest boy in the world.

Young Ziegler spent a year at both Harvard and Columbia universities and was given a business training, besides the grounding in law he received at college. His bent though was music and he achieved notice as a composer of several light opera scores. The early lessons in character building taught him by his foster father have given him an appreciation of the value of a dollar and he has never been detected throwing money away. His real father and sister have been with him at times since Mr. Ziegler's death and they are provided for in a substantial way.

Young Ziegler has been pretty busy thus far preparing himself to measure up to the standard of a $20,000,000 trust fund. Whether he has any definite notions of the obligation to humanity resting upon the shoulders of the man of incredible wealth remains to be seen.

FLY-SONG

Ten little flies
All in a line,
One got a swat!
Then there were.....
Nine little flies
Grumpy, sad,
Licking their chops—
Swat! There were.....
Eight little flies
Raising some more—
Swat! Swat! Swat! Swat!
Then there were.....
Four little flies
Colored green-blue,
Swat! (Aint it easy?)
Then there were.....
Two little flies
Dodged the swat—
Early next day
There were a million!

GREAT STATUE ATOP N. Y.'S MUNICIPAL BUILDING

"MISS CIVIC PRIDE"

Miss Civic Pride, the 30-foot statue that has just been placed atop the highest tower of the new municipal building of New York city, more than 500 feet above the street level. Miss Civic Pride was hammered out of copper at a cost of $3,000, and her golden dress cost $1,000 more.

NEW YORK YOUNGSTERS AS "BIG BROTHERS"

(Members of New York boy traffic squad on duty at dangerous crossings.) The older boys of the public schools in Greater New York have organized for the purpose of looking after the safety of the toddlers before and after school. The boys are divided into squads and stationed at street crossings where traffic is particularly heavy to see that the younger pupils are given a chance to cross these streets in safety by the unthinking chauffeurs and draymen.

NO HANDCUFFS IN FRANCE

From the London Standard.

Scarcely a day passes without a picture appearing in the French press of a prisoner led off to the station by a policeman and the description. The Apache being taken away handcuffed by the gendarme. As a matter of fact, hand cuffs are almost out of date in France and are never used.

Instead of handcuffs, the French use a very high and massive made of article resembling a huge watch chain some 10 inches long with a stout wooden pin at either end. An expert can slip this over the wrist of an offender in a twinkling and with both the prisoner's hands in his own hands he can give it a twist to inflict the most excruciating pain and compel instant and lamblike submission.

Another common method of preventing escape is to make the prisoner place both hands in his side trouser pockets and then pass a string around his wrists and round his waist and bid him march. He can walk at a very smart pace but any attempt to run out of a shambling trot immediately brings him down nose to the pavement.

If no string is handy, all the buttons of the trousers are cut off and the culprit is made again to put his hands in his pockets. As in the former case, he can only walk since as soon as he leaves his hand his nether garments fall about his legs and he is extra in the latest fashion. Few of these devices are apparent to the casual passer by who often condones at the passive docility with which some villainous looking individual under arrest follows his captor to the station. Sometimes on a country road one may meet a couple of gendarmes, a foot or on horseback leading a prisoner between them.

This is in obedience to a quaint regulation. Prisoners are never sent by train from place to place as there are no funds set apart for railway fares. Consequently four or five times as much is spent in food, drink and lodging for the escort as would be for the ticket, but the regulations are observed. In such cases the police often use the quip, "though strictly speaking this instrument is not legal."

It is a sort of loose thumb screw which is fixed so as to keep the two thumbs comfortably together so long as the man does not struggle but a twist of the string held by one of the police is enough to destroy any wish to escape.
